A DAY IN CONGRESS.

The Senate Takes Up the Union Pacific Funding Bill.

FILIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE

Non-Concurrence By the House In the Senate's Samoan Amendment.

SPRINGER AND THE OMNIBUS BILL.

Bismarck Proposes That a Conference Be Held at Berlin A Remarkable Petition From Washington Territory

WASHINGTON, Feb 4 The committee on appropriations reported back the legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill and gave notice that to-morrow it would call for action

The senate then resumed consideration of the anti-trust bill [illegible] giving notice that at 2 o'clock he would ask the senate to take up the Union Pacific funding bill

Senator George made an argument against the bill, and expressed his intention of offering an amendment looking to the suspension or reduction of import duties on articles as to which trusts are formed

The Union Pacific funding bill was then taken up

As the bill was read it fixed the 1st of July 1888, as the date up to which calculations should be made wherever it should read to the 1st of July 1889 and other dates were made to conform to that change

Mitchell gave notice that he would at the proper time move to recommit the bill with instructions to include legislation in reference to the Central Pacific Railroad Company

Frye stated that the Central Pacific had not been included in the bill, because attorneys who had appeared for that company had not seemed to manifest any great desire for a settlement and because there was not a parallelism between the cases of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific. The question as to the Central Pacific had been again raised by Huntington who had appeared before the committee and had presented the bill which had been introduced by Mitchell as a substitute for the pending bill adding ten or twelve sections for settlement with the Central Pacific It seemed to him that those matters could be settled in separate bills a good deal better than they could in one bill He recognized that there was an immense difference between the situations of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific that very much more leniency must be granted to the Central Pacific than to the Union Pacific If the government expected to get its debt paid by the Central Pacific that company should have very long time to make payments

The report of the committee was then sent to the clerk's desk and read

Mitchell made the motion of which he had given notice, to re-commit the bill, and stated the reason why he thought the motion should prevail He spoke of the enormous amount that would be due by the Pacific railroad companies to the government at the time of maturity of the debt $1[illegible] Any legislation having for its purpose the payment of that almost fabulous sum had to be regarded as of the utmost importance It was not his purpose to discuss the merits or demerits of the pending bill It was his purpose, however, to attract the attention of the country to the general situation and inaugurate an inquiry as to the propriety and justice of the proceeding to consideration of the pending bill while it omitted to include matters relating to at least half of the whole controversy

Frye I ought to say in justice to the Central Pacific that last month that company has shown a disposition and a great desire to make some settlement and adjustment of its debt with the United States, and there is now pending before the committee an amended bill to which the committee is called to consider to-morrow morning

Mitchell That is all right that shows a disposition on the part of the committee to do that which it had omitted I insist that it is not wise to have the roads forked at that stage of the game and to proceed with one branch of the controversy leaving the other branch untouched and unconsidered If any part of it was to be postponed it should be the Union Pacific part

At this point Mitchell yielded for a motion to adjourn

A conference was ordered on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill and Hale, Allison and Cockrell were appointed conferees on the part of the senate Adjourned

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Successful Filibustering Against the Union Pacific Funding Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb 4 The speaker having proceeded to the call of states for the introduction and reference of bills filibustering was inaugurated by Payson of Illinois who sent to the clerk's desk and demanded reading of a long printed bill to establish a court of appeals His opposition is directed to the Union Pacific funding bill Upon his desk rests a stack of bills ready which will consume the entire day unless he receives assurance that no effort will be made to pass that measure under a suspension of the rule

The court of appeals bill having been read and referred Payson brought forward for reading and reference a bankruptcy bill which owing to its length, is a favorite weapon of filibusters.

Payson stated that his objections were not against the consideration of the bill at the proper time, but now there was little time for debate on the amendments He created a diversion by calling up as a question of the highest privilege the conference report on the bill to amend the interstate commerce act.

An amendment relative to transportation of oil gave rise to some discussion, Bayne of Pennsylvania making a motion that the house recede from its amendment The motion was lost, a conference was agreed to and a further conference ordered

The senate amendments to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill were non-concurred in and conference ordered

Clardy of Missouri then called up the conference report upon the Nicaraguan canal bill He stated that the conferees on the part of the house, had receded from the house amendments requiring the company to print upon its obligations a provision relieving the United States from any liability on account of the company

Pending action on the report the house took a recess the evening session to be for the consideration of bills reported from the committee on Indian affairs.

EVENING SESSION.

Almost the entire evening session was consumed in consideration of the bill to divide a portion of the Sioux Indian reservation in Dakota into separate reservations, and secure the relinquishment of the Indian title to the remainder about 11 000 000 acres After a lengthy debate Peel (Ark), in charge of the bill, finding that it would be impossible to secure final action withdrew it from the consideration of the house Bills were passed on the allotment of lands in severalty to the Oneida Indians Wisconsin and the United Peoria and Miami Indians in Indian territory The house, at 10 30 P M adjourned

THE DIPLOMATIC BILL

The House Committee Advises Non-Concurrence in the Senate Amendments.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—The house committee on foreign affairs decided to recommend non-concurrence in the senate amendments to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill

The amendment appropriating $500 000 for the protection of American interests in Samoa met with unanimous approval but will be allowed to go with the other amendment to the conference

In the case of the amendment appropriating $100 000 for the establishment of a naval station at Pago Pago Samoa it was held that the paragraph in the naval appropriation bill referring to the same subject (much broader in its terms) was better framed than the senate amendment

PERSISTENT PARTISANS.

The Omnibus Bill Retarded by the Fight Over New Mexico and Dakota

WASHINGTON, Feb 4 Some of the most persistent democratic opponents of the Dakota features of the proposed compromise on the territorial statehood omnibus bill are threatening to hold Springer down to caucus instructions which will put New Mexico in the bill and only give enabling acts to North and South Dakota [illegible] of the latter territory are so anxious for division that they will concede almost anything to get it If the caucus instructions are to be strictly followed an agreement cannot be reached by the conference committee which is prerequisite to success Unless the conference committee reports final consideration cannot be had

Gentlemen here from Dakota working for the success of the omnibus bill say that the house will vote all that is asked in the way of division and admission but acknowledge that it is doubtful if New Mexico can be stricken out of the omnibus bill owing to democratic instructions to keep it in

The democrats contend that the only way the defective land titles in New Mexico can be made perfect is by giving the territory statehood [illegible] state laws may intervene There are a large number of prominent land cases pending in congress from that territory but the republicans will not concede statehood to New Mexico this time The outcome of the omnibus bill is a little dubious

BISMARCK'S PROPOSITION

It Is for Another Conference, This Time at Berlin

WASHINGTON, Feb 4 Count Von Arco Valley, the German minister called at the state department this afternoon, and had a conference with Secretary Bayard in regard to Samoan affairs He informed the secretary that he had received a communication from Prince Bismarck to the effect that the German government proposes a resumption at Berlin of the consultations which took place in Washington between the representatives of Germany Great Britain and the United States in 1887 on the subject of Samoa

The above information was furnished to the press by Secretary Bayard with the statement that it was all he would say on the subject at present. It was therefore impossible to obtain to-day the full text of Prince Bismarck's communication It is probable however that it will be transmitted to congress to-morrow or next day with Secretary Bayard's views on the subject

GERMAN PRESS COMMENT

BERLIN Feb 4 Commenting upon the action of the United States, in voting a credit for a coaling station at Pago Pago the National Zeitung says "America obtained the right to establish a coaling station from Malietoa, but she did not take advantage of the privilege within the specified time The establishment of a station now would appear to be an American protest against German annexation"

The North German Gazette to-night makes allusion to Pendleton's being farewell This is construed as an indication that the appointment of a new minister is desired

AN AMERICAN WAR VESSEL FOR SAMOA

WASHINGTON Feb 4—The navy department is informed that the Mohican which is fitting out at Mare Island will be ready for sea to-morrow She proceeds to Panama where it is expected she will receive orders to join the fleet at Samoa

THE GERMAN CONSUL TO BE REMOVED

LONDON Feb 4 The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says It is certain that the German consul at Samoa will be removed Prince Bismarck is extremely annoyed by the consul's exceeding his instructions

A REMARKABLE PETITION.

A Washington Territory Man Begs Congress to Appropriate $50 000 for a Balloon

WASHINGTON Feb 4—President pro tem Ingalls to-day laid before the senate the following petition

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives Your humble petitioner would respectfully [illegible] that your honorable body passed the bill introduced by Senator Butler allowing the commissioners of Whitman county Washington territory to issue bonds not to exceed $[illegible] to build a courthouse and jail in the town of Colfax Now your petitioner most humbly prays that you [illegible] give them the privilege of raising $50 000 It will take this amount to keep the county seat down in this hole and while you are about it give us $50 000 more to build a balloon to get down to the county seat in, and your petitioner will ever pray

JOHN SMITH

The petition was referred to the committee on territories

THE GOVERNMENT AT OTTAWA.

A Lively Debate on the Reciprocity Treaty

OTTAWA Feb 4 In the senate to-day the presentation of a resolution for the adoption of the speech from the throne called forth a vigorous debate, during which the leader of the opposition, Senator Scott attacked the government policy particularly with reference to the fisheries question The treaty of 1818 to which the government is reverting he characterized as the most barbarous arrangement ever conceived and he declared in favor of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States

This called forth a lengthy reply from the government leaders in which Abbott took the ground that the treatment accorded United States fishermen would not find a parallel with the harsh treatment experienced by the British crews seized in Behring's sea The resolution was adopted

A COURT MANDATE DISOBEYED.

Senator Dolph Introduces a Bill for the Apprehension of McKee

WASHINGTON, Feb 4 In the senate to-day Dolph introduced a joint resolution in reference to the $7[illegible] received by Henry E McKee, as a contingent fee in the Choctaw claim and his disobedience of the order of the court to pay over $136 000 of this amount It directs the apprehension of McKee wherever found and that he be brought to Washington and subjected to the jurisdiction of the supreme court of the district referred to the judiciary committee

NEZ PERCES WAR VETERANS

A Bill Introduced by Senator Mitchell for Their Reimbursement.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—Senator Mitchell introduced a bill to-day providing that each volunteer who joined the forces of the United States in Oregon, Washington territory or Idaho during the war with the Nez Perces Indians shall be paid at $1 for each day of service and also the actual value of any horses, arms etc lost by him while in service The pension laws are made applicable to those who contracted wounds or disease during the war

OUR AVAILABLE MILITARY.

Report of Adjutant General Drumm Submitted by the Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON Feb 4.—Secretary Endicott to-day transmitted the report of Adjutant-General Drumm giving the strength of the organized militia of the states and territories and forces available for the military, but not organized The total commissioned officers are 8397, enlisted men, 98 109; the number of men available, but not organized, 8,104,628

THE STATE CAPITAL

The House Passes Three Bills for Wagon Roads.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE

Multnomah Representatives in Conference on the Consolidation Bill.

PENNOYER WILL NOT ISSUE A WHIP

Mr Thompson Gives an Interesting Reminiscence About Bully Creek New Bills Introduced in the House

SALEM Feb 4 The house this afternoon succeeded in passing nine more bills This took nearly three hours and is not a very good showing when compared with the large volume of business rushed through by the senate in two hours Still if three of these same bills pass the senate and are approved by the governor the state will pay out of its treasury $28 000 and this sum added to other appropriations for wagon roads which the house has already sanctioned, makes a total of $7[illegible] 000 with Benton Columbia Washington and Malheur counties all of which are asking for appropriations still unprovided for

The three wagon road bills which were passed by the house to-day are Maxwell's bill for a road in Tillamook county from Yamhill appropriating $10 000 Hunter's bill to appropriate $8 000 for the improvement of the Wallowa canyon road and Bell's bill appropriating $10 000 for improvement of the road from Heppner to Monument in Grant county The latter bill took considerable over an hour to pass owing to the number of members who felt it incumbent upon them to explain why they voted money for internal improvements so freely Some few had also to explain why they were opposed to this bill after having supported others The reason given by these latter was that there must be a limit to appropriations and here was the place to draw the line. The bill finally passed by a vote of 33 to 23

Soon after the house began the transaction of business Roberts of Coos rose to a question of privilege and asked that he be permitted to send a statement to the clerk's desk and have it read Following is the statement

Mr Speaker I understand that Captain Apperson feels [illegible] hurt about what appeared in the [illegible] of the 2d inst. It is not my desire to place the gentleman in a false light and if on the spur of the moment, I have spoken hastily no gentleman on this floor is more ready to make amends than myself I did not mean to say that Mr Apperson promised to support my road bill in consideration of my vote, but I certainly did understand him to say in talking of these road matters that he was in favor of internal improvements and that we ought to receive aid. I again say that I regret that anything should have appeared in print that would wound the feelings of Mr Apperson for he is a man that I in common with many members on this floor, hold in high esteem as a worthy member and citizen

In reply to this Mr Apperson said

Mr Speaker I was most certainly surprised to learn through the columns of THE OREGONIAN that any member of this house should charge any other member with the seeking of the honorable office of speaker [illegible] with having sought to secure that position by promises of support to any measure and I felt that a retraction was due to members of this body and it was most certainly due me and I am very glad to know that the gentleman who made the charge has thus publicly made the retraction and I assure him and this house that the apology thus made is accepted in the spirit in which it was offered, and is satisfactory, and I shall consider the matter settled

Speaker Smith said

I am pleased to see that this matter has been amicably adjusted, and I trust that nothing will occur during this session to mar the pleasant personal relations of this house.

The Multnomah representative delegation held a conference on the Portland East Portland and Albina consolidation bill, in Secretary of State McBride's office in the state house this evening All were present except Northup and Ladd Representative Strowbridge presided, and Harold Pittinger acted as secretary City Attorney Adams, Councilman Hoyt and P L Willis of Portland were also present The bill was read by sections a few of which were discussed and adopted seriatim The police commissioners were stricken from section 3 chapter 2 which invests the power of government upon them, the mayor and city council Hume's motion to create an office of city assessor did not prevail. The section taxing doctors and lawyers was removed An amendment was made prohibiting the issuance of liquor license for a sum less than the state license Power was given the city to regulate plumbing and sewerage on all buildings in the city The committee was in session two hours and got about one half through the bill, adopting thirty seven sections Another meeting will be held Wednesday evening when the Multnomah senators are expected to be present

It was stated this morning that Governor Pennoyer desired the democratic members of the house and senate to sustain his veto of the Portland water bill, and that a conference of democrats would be called to acquaint them of his wishes. So far as can be learned, there is no truth in the report This morning Senator Cogswell Dem called on Governor Pennoyer, who told him that he had not asked nor would he ask, the democrats to sustain his veto that he expected every democrat to vote on the bill in accordance with his conviction of what was right Senator Cogswell did not call on the governor to obtain a cue as to how he should vote for he says he will not let party influences or party lines guide his vote but will do what he considers right and vote for the passage of the bill over the veto The Multnomah delegation are confident of passing the bill over the veto

When Napton's bill to change the name of Bully creek in Malheur county to Alder creek came up for final passage Thompson of Multnomah rose and said

The gentleman from Malheur Mr Napton is a young man and while this is nothing against him, it is probably the reason why he wishes to do away with this most historic name, not being aware of its origin I was there at the time this creek was named and may be said to have a vested right in it It is not a pretty name, I'll admit but it is historical, and therefore I am opposed to the passage of this bill The history is not a long one I was engaged in surveying through that country The weather was warm and rattlesnakes were plenty also a species of lizard called swifts Mr Hueman, in order to cross this stream took off his boots, and when he came back and went to put them on something hit his toe. It was a swift but the poor fellow thought it was a rattlesnake and started up wildly falling headlong into the stream The rest of the party raised the shout "Bully Boy go in and win" And that's the way the creek got its name I think it ought to remain, and am opposed to the passage of the bill

Napton thought Thompson was in earnest and urged the passage of his bill. Harrington took the same view and sided with the gentleman from Malheur in an earnest speech about the people of Malheur, knowing what they wanted Bowditch raised a laugh by saying he wished this matter had come up on the second reading of the bill, when it could have been amended He thought it would have been possible to have made a compromise with the gentleman from Multnomah and had it named Bull Run The bill then passed Mr Thompson voting aye

An amusing incident happened in the senate this afternoon Gray's bill to authorize the Astoria & South Coast Railroad Company to build a bridge across Young's river and Skipanon creek coming up for second reading Clerk Price after announcing its number stopped short to give the Clatsop senator an opportunity to move to suspend the rules and read the bill the second time by title Gray hesitated several seconds, and looked as if he was desirous of having the bill read in its entirety Finally he started to his feet [illegible] roll call proceeded amid much laughter

Jennings's bill amending section [illegible] of Hill's Code making railroad companies liable for stock killed by cars passed this afternoon The amendment consists in inserting the words "mule and hog" Northup opposed the bill because it did not contain a proviso that [illegible] through no fault of the owner saying that in many counties hogs were not allowed to run at large and if they did so and got on the track the company should not be liable for their loss Drury, Jennings, Humphrey and other farmers explained that hogs were killed frequently in the valley counties where railroads run through enclosed fields and the fault was solely with the railroads The bill then passed with little opposition

Gray introduced a bill in the senate this afternoon to make pilotage rates between Astoria and the sea $[illegible] per foot and 4 cents per ton for all in excess of [illegible]00 tons This is in accordance with the recommendation of the pilot commissioners. The present law allows $8 per foot for all under twelve feet draught of vessel and $10 per foot for all above. The Portland Board of Trade bill, introduced in the house by Northup fixes rates at $4 per foot and 2 cents per ton for all over 1000 tons

Governor Pennoyer has approved Representative Roberts's bill to change the name of Averill Coos county to Bandon Representative Maxwell's bill providing for the holding of terms of the county court in Tillamook county on the first Mondays in January March May July September and November and Senator Watts's bill to authorize the Portland & Willamette Valley Railroad Company to build a bridge across the Willamette at Ray's landing

Jennings's bill for the election of road supervisors at each general June election, met with very little favor The committee on roads and highways recommended that it do not pass, and after some discussion Jennings himself withdrew the measure

Powell of Polk has introduced a bill which covers nearly the same ground and which the committee on roads and highways will report favorably

Geer's bill amending the road law which passed the house this afternoon simply adds three lines to section 4[illegible] of Hill's Code, making it the duty of road supervisors to erect strong bannisters upon all bridges over six feet high He recalled the death of Miss Wolford a young lady near Silverton two years ago because of a frightened horse backing off a small bridge on which there was no railing

Layman's high license bill came up for final passage this afternoon but objections being raised by Northup of Multnomah and several others to sections 4 and 6 of the bill, it was referred to the committee of the whole and made a special order for to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock

The present session of the legislature will cost the state $40 000 or about a thousand dollars a day That was the estimate of Secretary of State McBride in his biennial report.

In the senate to-day Watts offered a bill appropriating $42,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the expenses of the session It was read three times and passed in short order

IN THE SENATE.

New Bills Introduced, and Many Measures Referred to Committees

SALEM, Or Feb 4 – The senate was called to order by President Simon at 2 P M

Watts asked for and was granted permission to introduce a bill It appropriates $42,000 to defray the expenses of the session. The bill was read three times and passed without dissent.

A HIGH-TONED FORGER.

San Francisco Deeply Interested in Tripler's Crime.

A MAN OF MANY GOOD TRAITS

But Prone to Eccentric Withdrawals From His Home and Friends, and Too Fond of the Fascinations of Gaming

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 4—Captain Tripler supposed to be the man arrested in Gervais, Or, a few days ago for forgery was last seen in this city on December 22. When he had been gone about a week and his family found some explanation of his unaccountable absence was expected from them they caused the impression to be spread abroad that his whereabouts was as much a mystery to them as to his acquaintances They claimed to have been informed that on the date mentioned he had hired a boat at Point Tiburon and had gone out on the bay alone for a little exercise Neither the captain nor the boat which it is said he had hired was seen again and the theory that he had been drowned gained credence and was finally accepted as true Search for his body was continued until the searchers became discouraged

Although Tripler's numerous friends, both in and out of society and in army circles at last came to look upon him as dead his family and especially his wife refused to accept that theory as the correct one They thought he had landed with the boat at some point on the beach and then started off on one of the eccentric trips he had often been known to indulge in His practice on these occasions was to disappear for several days without letting anybody not even his wife, know of his intention He always returned however, with the explanation that he had been paying a visit to one of the mines that he was known to be interested in. On this last occasion his wife's opinion was that he had gone on a visit to a gypsum mine in which she said he was interested

Captain Tripler is not a stranger to this town and has always been recognized as a good fellow and the only fault that his friends ever had to find with him was that he would gamble once in a while He was a civil engineer by profession, and was also assistant grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons

HIS MINES WERE WORTHLESS

The statement that Tripler had a short time before his flight sold an interest in a Mexican mine for a large sum of money turns out to be a fabrication The captain is known to have owned some mining shares but they were undoubtedly worth only the paper on which the certificates were written He was owner of a patent on a machine for crushing gypsum but that must also have been a failure because its owner never realized any money on it

The captain was educated for a physician but the life did not suit him and he abandoned it to enter the army where he gained the title by which he is known Among his associates he was known as a man of luxurious tastes which he was in the habit of indulging very freely whenever his pockets were heavy with coin, as they were frequently His heart was as tender as a woman's and no appeal for charity was ever turned away from him with a refusal His generous nature was one of the many good traits of character which endeared him to his friends His downfall is heartily regretted in this city, and hope is expressed on all sides that he will be spared the humiliation of being sent to prison

THE CHRONICLE'S STATEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 4—The Chronicle publishes the statement that Captain Charles Stuart Tripler held in Portland Oregon for forging a check for $156 left this city short in his accounts with the Masonic Grand Lodge of California, to the amount of about $3 000 Tripler is the son of the well known army surgeon and was assistant secretary of the lodge It is stated that his friends will make good his indebtedness The name "Carlos Estuardo" under which Tripler registered at the Merchants' hotel, Portland, is the name which he assumed when he was admitted into the Masonic lodge in Mexico The literal English translation of the name is Charles Stuart, and the captain's full name is Charles Stuart Tripler

A WHOLESALE SWINDLE.

Two Hundred and Fifty Men Roped In by an Employment Agency.

LOS ANGELES Feb 4.—A novel swindle came to light to-day. Dimond & Hardy's employment agency engaged about 250 men to go out to San Fernando to grade the toll road The men paid $2 50 each to the agency, got receipts, and presented themselves this morning to go to work Then it was learned that the poor laborers had been swindled as no such job of work was in existence and Dimond had skipped with their money

Hardy was arrested, but soon showed that he was an innocent partner, who had been roped into buying an interest with Dimond several days ago He paid the men back their fees and will now try to capture Dimond

A MISREPRESENTATION

Publication of a Falshood in Opposition to New Mexico's Statehood

SANTA FE N M Feb 4—A dispatch sent out February 2d dated Albuquerque from an unknown correspondent stating that a bill had been introduced in the legislature requiring that school teachers should know how to read and write, is a misrepresentation, made apparently to influence congress against the admission of New Mexico to statehood There is and has been for years a statute of the New Mexico law requiring all teachers to pass an examination in all the elementary branches usually taught in the public schools The excuse for this misrepresentation is an act which required an educational qualification for school directors, and all county officers which act has passed

The people of New Mexico are in favor of statehood which was demonstrated by the territorial convention lately held at Santa Fe which declared in favor of it earnestly and unanimously The legislature has also passed unanimously a memorial to the same effect.

THE STREET CAR STRIKE

A Conference That May Lead to a Compromise

NEW YORK Feb 4—Nearly all the lines are running cars this morning Very few strikers are on the street The Ninth avenue line paid off the strikers this morning and announced that hereafter no member of any union will be employed

EVERYTHING QUIET IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK Feb 4—There is oppressive dullness in the matter of news on the tie up of the surface roads to-night. None of the lines on which the strike holds ran any cars to night.

A committee from the striking employes of Richardson's Brooklyn street car lines, and Commissioner Donovan, had a conference with Richardson to-night. The result was that Richardson said he would take back such drivers and conductors as he needed to fill places, but would not discharge any competent new men employed in the places of strikers He would not take back tow boys, but would employ men in their places This proposition will be submitted to the various assemblies for action.

PREACHING TO CONVICTS.

Cardinal Gibbons Likens His College Course to Prison Discipline.

BALTIMORE, Feb 5.—Cardinal Gibbons, in a sermon yesterday to the 628 prisoners in Maryland penitentiary, based his sermon on the story of the storm on Lake Gennesaret urging the prisoners to be cheerful and make the best of their situation, they could make a profit of their time if they so desired, and when the time came for their release they could become honest members of society "I was in prison myself for six years said the cardinal. They called it college it is true but the discipline was as rigid as that which governs you now, and whatever I have learned of theology history and other matters I attribute to the work of those six years"

Not an Extinct Race, as Supposed, but Living in Mountain Fastnesses.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M, Feb 4—The remnant of the "cliff dwellers," supposed to be extinct, is said to be living in the San Mateo mountains. They are very small, not over three feet in hight and very wild They have been seen also in the Black range, and as soon as the snow melts parties will go out to capture them, if possible The facts are vouched for by reliable men

GRAND METEORIC DISPLAY

A Large Aerolite Falls in the Streets of Chicago.

CHICAGO Feb 4—A meteor, supposed to have weighed several hundred pounds, fell with a terrible crash in Chicago near Wells street Saturday morning. It lit up the heavens gorgeously in its flight, and its fall caused the earth to shake for blocks around It burst into ten thousand fragments and the air was filled with a strong odor of burning sulphur Several specimens have been submitted to chemists for analysis.

POLITICAL OUTRAGES.

A Statement by the Brothers of the Murdered Clayton.

THE KU KLUX REIGNS ONCE MORE

A Bogus Militia Company—Report of the Senate Committee Investigating the Election Outrages in Texas

LITTLE ROCK Feb 4 Powell Clayton and Judge W H H Clayton submitted to the press and public to night a long statement of the facts leading up to the assassination of their brother Hon John M Clayton, at Plummerville, January 29 In the statement they agree that it was a political assassination and it is therefore necessary for them to refer to the political conditions and circumstances surrounding it This they do in a partisan spirit but only that justice may be done their brother and that knowledge of the facts may lead the people of the state to correct the evils from which this and other great crimes have arisen

A DANGEROUS ORGANIZATION

The statement goes on at great length to detail affairs in Conway county since early last fall It seems to show that the political affairs of the county were practically dominated by a club organized as a political association, but which before election resolved itself into a militia company and was furnished arms and ammunition by the governor of the state

On election day this company had their loaded guns deposited in a convenient place in the building where the election was held The republican judge was refused admittance and a man nominated by Stowers commander of the militia organization was selected in his place making the election board solidly democratic This was at Morrelton while at Plumerville the same thing was done the places of the two republican judges being usurped This was at the September election at the congressional election like occurances were noted

L W Benjamin a prominent republican lawyer of Little Rock who was sent to Morrelton to use his endeavors to secure an honest election was mobbed and injured, and died within a short time

CLAYTON'S MURDER

The statement then goes on to detail the circumstances of Clayton's contest and murder and also tells of an attempt made on the 17th of December by unknown parties to assassinate Charles Wahl republican United States supervisor who was severely wounded and who, as soon as he was able went to Little Rock for safety and has since remained there

The body of John M Clayton was left lying in the room on the floor from the time he was shot until 3 30 next afternoon when his brother arrived Up to that time the sheriff of the county had not appeared

The Clayton brothers say in conclusion that they stand ready to substantiate every one of the facts set forth in every essential particular and believe they will be a material link in the chain of circumstances surrounding the murder of their brother

THE TEXAS ELECTION OUTRAGES

A Shameful State of Affairs Disclosed by the Senate Committee

WASHINGTON Feb 4—The report of the committee of the senate on the Texas election investigation made to-day is long going into the details of the cases etc The first conclusion the committee reaches is that the averments of the petitioners as to the situation in their homes in Texas and an occasion of their being compelled to flee from them are in substance and effect sustained by the evidence

It reviews the outrages at Lewellyn where Dewees Bolton who headed the raiding party that entered the polling precinct in disguise for the purpose of destroying the ballot-box was shot and killed The dead man's body was left alone in the room all night and toward morning Judge Robinson persuaded an aged colored man Alfred Jones, to leave the sick bed of his wife and go with him to the scene of the murder, on the plea that he was afraid to go alone

Jones had no previous knowledge of the murder and his observation of the dead body with its disguise and murderous weapon cost him his life, when afterward an attempt was made to make out that Bolton was an unarmed and peaceful visitor to the polling place who had been slain by the unprovoked violence of colored men Jones was arrested and hung up on no conceivable incentive but to make away with his testimony

As to the murder of the two, Jones and Felder by the mob who lynched them at Berhew the committee say that these murders were each committed upon the motive, and in the interest of the policy and purpose that had countenanced and caused the raids on the ballot boxes at that election.

The sacrifice of these worthy and blameless lives was demanded for the suppression of their evidence, which would have demonstrated that the death of Bolton had befallen him in an act of preconcerted attack upon the ballot box to defeat the republican ticket.

The evidence before the committee showed that no attempts had been made by the authorities of the county or the state to bring to punishment or trial any of the actors in the several raids on the ballot box in 1884 or 1886

The committee in conclusion, said

This case presents not unfairly the features that illustrate the political disorders that afflict portions of our country where the population is at all nearly divided between white and colored citizens These disorders tend to weaken and set back the sincere desire of the country at large to obliterate all distinctions, as between geographical or political divisions, in the prevalence of justice, peace, good will and equality of right, in discussing and solving all of the problems which affect the welfare of this people

ALLISON'S DISCLAIMER.

He Did Not Refuse the Secretaryship of the Treasury for Political Reasons

WASHINGTON Feb 4—Senator Allison is annoyed by the statement that he has declined the secretaryship of the treasury, because of his presidential aspirations. He requested his friend this morning to prepare a statement for the press, saying that General Harrison understood immediately after the election that Allison would not consent to take a cabinet place, but that the matter was left open until such time as the two men could meet and presumably discuss the matter On the occasion of Allison's recent trip to Indianapolis he gave Harrison his reasons for not entering the cabinet They were that he was too poor a man to take the place and that he felt physically unable to enter now upon the performance of the duties of secretary of the treasury When this statement had been written out and submitted to Allison he declined to assume direct responsibility for it but desired it to be published as coming from an intimate friend

ANOTHER THEORY OF THE PRINCE'S DEATH.

LONDON Feb 4—Another sensational story, relative to the death of the Austrian crown prince comes from Brussels. It is asserted that the crown prince became entangled in an affair of honor with an Austrian family, and it was decided that the prince and a son of the family in question should fight a duel according to the American plan, by which method dice are thrown to decide which of the duelists shall commit suicide Dice were thrown and Rudolph lost. The time specified for the suicide of the loser was three months, and at the expiration of that period the crown prince fulfilled his engagement and took his own life The fact that during the time mentioned Rudolph was apparently preparing for his coming death seems to give color to the foregoing story

STILL ANOTHER THEORY

LONDON Feb 4.—The Brussels correspondent of the Chronicle alleges that the letter from the Vienna correspondent of that paper asserts that when the door of Crown Prince Rudolph's room was forced open, the body of a beautiful young Bohemian lady was also found. The correspondent asserts that the crown prince first killed her with a revolver and then shot himself, and that the body of the lady was conveyed secretly to the seat of her family in Bohemia. Two other theories of the alleged tragedy are current and have already been cabled abroad, but the foregoing account is most generally believed

AN UGLY DISCOVERY.

A Report That Should Be Read.

"A recent analyzation in Philadelphia by a celebrated chemist of ten popular brands of sarsaparilla discloses the astonishing fact that these ten samples of blood purifiers (?) contained in the aggregate sixteen different minerals eleven of which were active poisons. Iodide of potash was discovered in every sample mercury was found in all but two, while arsenic existed in six of the ten brands. Not one brand was the pure article."

A reporter took the above clipping to E. W. Joy the manufacturer of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Mr Joy exhibited no surprise. He said druggists knew it. He said he long ago saw the crying need for a safe and absolutely pure vegetable preparation of Sarsaparilla, hence his was named Joy's vegetable sarsaparilla because it contained nothing but pure syrup of sarsaparilla, combined with the pure juices of California vegetable alteratives. Unlike potash sarsaparillas, it does not force impurities through the skin but stimulates the various secretive organs thereby correcting functional derangement and eliminating all impurities through the natural channels.—San Francisco Examiner

> —Longfellow in Hiawatha

Much has been written of the native Indian on the war-path bedecked with feathers and war-paint, swinging his murderous tomahawk, and uttering such blood curdling war-whoops as are calculated to strike terror into the heart of every encroacher upon his domain. So much has been written of his brutal instincts and savage nature, that the very name of an Indian brings thoughts suggestive of barbarism and the sanguinary battle fields. That side of the Indian's nature which reveals in him the greatest contrasts to a higher type of civilization, has been given undue prominence to the exclusion of those attributes of character partaking of a higher and more enlightened life and mode of living. His savage instincts are brought out in the strongest light. The characteristics and capabilities which enable him to assimilate the customs and manners of the white man and make constant progress [illegible] are [illegible] overlooked or passed unnoticed.

For the purpose of observing the degree of advancement attained by Indians under favorable conditions an Oregonian reporter visited a few days ago the

INDIAN SCHOOL AT CHEMAWA.

Some five miles this side of Salem on the line of the Oregon & California railroad at the little station of Chemawa is an Indian school, established and maintained by the government. Here the sons and daughters of the American aborigine are taught the rudiments of a common school education and trained in those branches of manual labor best calculated to make them independent and self-supporting men and women. They are given a practical education. The school is built on a fine, level tract of land embracing about 150 acres. The buildings, offices, school rooms, dormitories and workshops are substantial and spacious structures, and the grounds are elegantly laid out and well kept. The reporter was shown through all the departments of the school. After being conducted to the office of Col. Lee, the superintendent, where all the records of the school are kept, the

TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT,

On the upper floor of the same building, was visited. Here were seen two Indian boys and six girls industriously at work manufacturing that piece of wearing apparel so useful to every boy—a pair trowsers. A large roll of heavy woolen cloth lay on the counter while garments in all stages of completion were to be seen. Mr. W. H. Utter, who has charge of this department, says that the young apprentices are doing some excellent work.

SHOE SHOP.

Next the shoe shop was visited. Mr. S. A. Walker is foreman, and eight stalwart young men are here employed making all kinds of shoes. There were small shoes for the girls and large boots for the grainger element of the school while still other footgear looked as though it might have been made expressly for a Chicago girl. In addition to making shoes some of the boys were engaged in that most difficult feat of making an old worn out shoe stick to a large patch of leather.

"I presume," said the reporter, "that you make here more shoes than the school can use. You must manufacture some for export even to the city of Portland."

"Government leather," shouted half a dozen boys in unison. That was sufficient. No more questions were asked. Mr. Walker by way of comment added that the shop was barely able to supply the school with boots and shoes. From the shoe shop it is only a short distance to the

WAGON AND BLACKSMITH SHOP.

This is a plain structure about 30x30 feet and two stories in height. The ground floor is used as a blacksmith [illegible], and the floor above is a wagon shop. Only the boys are employed in this department. W. S. Hudson, foreman of this work has taught the boys so that they are efficient and capable workmen. In the blacksmith shop the boys make horseshoes and bolts and iron neck yokes and all other woodwork. The wagon shop turns out all the tools and conveniences for making buggies and wagons and for making general repairs to all farm machinery. As a sample of the work in his shop the reporter was shown a ranch wagon made entirely (except iron trimmings) by one boy. The wagon is neatly made and strong, and compares well with any made in a city factory.

CARPENTER SHOP.

The carpenter shop in charge of D. F. Brewer and Lewis Charles chief carpenter employs four boys. All the carpenter work on the place is done here—from making finely matched cupboards to repairing broken broom handles incapacitated by the rough usage of an irate broom yielder.

ENGINE HOUSE AND BAKE SHOP.

In an institution of this kind an engine house is an obvious necessity for pumping water to the various buildings on the place. In this place the engine house is a tall brick structure capped by a belfry from which hangs the large bell used for giving signals for work calls for meals and for communicating various other orders whenever occasion requires. William Horlemath is engineer. About one quarter of the ground floor of the engine house is used as a bake shop. Here Edward Armstrong, a young Indian boy not over eighteen years of age, presides over the oven and turns out an excellent grade of the staff of life. A large pile of light white bread was stacked upon a table—very palatable monuments of his skill.

BOYS' DORMITORIES.

The building used as a dormitory by the boys is a large two-story structure. The ground floor is partitioned off into fifteen rooms, containing from two to three beds each, a large hallway running through the center. The rooms, at least many of them, are decorated with such pictures and minor ornaments as the boys are able to accumulate, and all present an appearance of cleanliness and tidiness. The upper story of this building is not finished, it is still in one large room without any subdivisions. About fifty beds arranged in careful order about the room give accommodations for as many lodgers.

BATH HOUSE AND HOSPITAL.

The bath house, hospital and clothes-room are all in one building, two stories in height, the lower floor has nine bath rooms and a clothes-room, where all the clean clothes of the boys are kept. The upper floor is used as a sick ward for the boys whenever any of them get sick. It is not occupied very frequently for the boys make it an object not to get sick.

GIRLS' HEADQUARTERS.

The dormitory for the girls, dining room, sewing room and music conservatory also are all in one large building. In the front part of this building on the ground floor, are the parlors and sitting rooms. The greater portion of this floor, however, is used as a dining room, where the 201 children congregate to eat their meals. The tables extend nearly the full length of the dining room, and furnish ample accommodations for the entire school. Just off from the dining room is the kitchen, where Elizabeth Hudson, chief cook assisted by Katie Brewer, prepare what is required in administering to the physical wants of the boys and girls. The reporter seeing a gigantic kettle on a brick foundation, all by itself and some savory soup boiling therein began to have a vague suspicion that there was some eating done there.

"No they do not eat very much," replied the cook. "The school only consumes about sixty-seven loaves of bread at one meal, fifty-four pies at a meal, and 171 pounds of meat per day."

Mrs. Hudson is also teaching four young Indian girls in the culinary department, teaching them that art of domestic arts—cooking. Both dining-room and kitchen are scrupulously clean and tidy. The upper floor of this building is principally used as a dormitory, it being divided into sleeping apartments for the girls. One room a little more spacious than the rest is used by Minnie J. Walker as a

DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

Ten girls are here endeavoring to master the mysteries of cutting and fitting, and the other multifarious branches of the art of making female attire. Several pieces of feminine wearing apparel were going through the successive stages in the hands of the girls. For what particular use the garments were made, and whether or not they were geometrically cut and artistically fitted, the reporter was unable to say, owing to a great defect in his education. It is safe to assume however, that it was all a "good job."

THE LAUNDRY.

Connected with a wooden walk, and only a few steps to the rear of this building is the laundry. Miss Annie Herkemath assisted by Adeline Smith preside over this department. Several girls are here learning this accomplishment. As the reporter started to ask whether washing was done once a week or once a month the laundress ventured the startling information that this operation was only performed six days in the week. "Tough," was the word the girl thought they best [illegible] one of [illegible] unable [illegible] explain [illegible] girl in this department [illegible] the reporter [illegible] eighty [illegible]

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Not the least among the [illegible] taken up by the boys is that of farming. When the school was started at Chemawa [illegible] a large tract of land here covered [illegible] had been cleared of trees and stumps, so that now a well kept farm is maintained [illegible] one of the leading industries of the institution. Everything in the vegetable line is raised in abundance. In fact, all vegetables used by the school are raised on the place and all grains with the exception of wheat. This is quite an item in the expense account, curtailing the outlay for living considerably. More land is constantly being cleared, stumps are blown out with blasting powder and it is expected that the institution will soon be able to raise its own wheat.

THE SCHOOLS AND LEARNING.

The school house is situated near the center of the group of buildings. There are four class rooms, besides halls and closets on the ground floor and a large fine chapel on the floor above. The fifth grade is in charge of Edmund Brown, acting principal of the educational department of the school. There are thirty-six scholars in this grade and the entire class is well advanced in those branches of learning usually taught in all grammar schools. Some of the writing seen in their copy books shows the majority of them to be very expert with the pen. Their work in all other branches is equally as satisfactory.

Miss F. Josie Pitman, teacher of the First and Fourth grades in the classroom adjoining that of Mr. Brown. She has 44 scholars in the First grade and 30 in the Fourth.

The Second and Third grades are taught by Hattie L. Bristow. Her pupils in the Second grade number 38 and in the Third, nearly 50.

All of the instructors speak in the highest terms of the proficiency of their pupils. Most of them are thorough and painstaking in their studies and quick to acquire knowledge when properly presented.

MUSIC BY MISS GODLEY.

The department of music is in charge of Miss Anna Godley, who at present gives lessons to a class of 21 pupils among whom are several boys. Through her tutorship the scholars are rapidly advancing. Being herself a talented and accomplished musician, she is well fitted to give a thorough course of instruction in instrumental music. Eva Helm and Stella Flannery, two little Indian girls, aged respectively 10 and 9 years played a beautiful duet while little Lucy Ross, aged 11 years rendered several selections on the same instrument. The technique of their renditions was beyond criticism. The latter girl mentioned is remarkable for one so young. She has never taken a lesson in her life and yet she can play different selections in an excellent manner. Vocal music is also taught in connection with instrumental.

BRASS BAND.

The boys not to be outdone by the girls have organized a brass band of twenty-two pieces, and since its organization, last fall, have made most wonderful progress. The leader of the band, John Miller, conceived the idea of organizing a band some time last fall and accordingly the instruments were bought with the boys' own money and active training at once commenced. At present the young men have mastered about 10 hard difficult pieces and some forty or fifty more common ones. All seem to be possessed of a natural musical talent. The band is not yet uniformed, but the boys work all the harder to attain still greater proficiency. The boys have some intention of entering engagements for concerts during the summer.

THE CHAPEL.

The chapel is located on the upper floor of the school building. It is neatly furnished inside, and plenty large enough for religious worship and such other exercises as may from time to time, be held there. There are divine services and Sunday school held every Sabbath. Occasionally there are also religious exercises during the week.

GOOD DISCIPLINE.

The discipline of this school is something that is not often surpassed by that of schools for white children. In preparing for school the boys and girls are called by several loud bugle blasts—a first warning and then an immediate call. The boys form in line on one side of the walk leading to the school house and the girls on the other. Having been taught many of the military movements the boys are required to conduct themselves with military dignity. At the command "Forward, march," all start off and while keeping step with military precision they march up the steps and into the school house. School is dismissed in a similar manner. All march to the taps of the teacher's bell. When preparing for dinner they march into the large dining room in an orderly manner and stand by their places. After some one has been called upon to say grace, a signal is given and they all take their seats.

THE BOYS.

The boys at the Chemawa school are as healthy and robust a set of young fellows as can be met with most anywhere. In their manners they are well behaved and extremely polite. No whisky or tobacco is allowed on the place. They exercise mind and body proportionately and there is no good reason why they should not be healthy.

THE GIRLS.

The girls are equally as healthy as the boys. They are rapidly adopting the customs and usages of their white sisters. In their deportment they are modest and reserved, in disposition blithesome and gay, and in dress comme il faut. There can be no question that they are fast becoming civilized for many of them already are wearing such bangs as might be the envy of any white girl. They have not yet reached that highest stage of civilization—chewing gum and the modern bustle.

THE MANAGEMENT.

The entire school is conducted on a practical basis. It is not run with the view of turning out intellectual giants and classic scholars, but with the idea of preparing those under instruction for the practical duties of life. The pupils are worked half a day and go to school the other half. They are taught the science of agriculture and several of the more useful trades, all that the present facilities will admit of. It is a well managed institution and reflects credit on Colonel Lee, the superintendent.

The teachers now at the school are capable and efficient, and though some of them retain their positions under protest they all give good satisfaction. In addition to the instructors and heads of departments already mentioned, the following names complete the entire corps of officers and assistants: Edwin S. Miller, physician; D. E. Brewer, disciplinarian; Eugene Isaacs, butcher; Jacob Maxwell, painter; Oliver Lindsay, hospital steward; R. H. Lee, acting clerk and the following cadet sergeants, Philip Wash, William Metcalf, John Wordruff, Davis Jasse, Sarah Puire, Annie Puire, Jennie Canyon and Matilda Price.

EAST PORTLAND COUNCIL.

Large Grist Ground Out Last Night by the City Dads.

Usual Routine Business—Communications, Petitions, Reports and Ordinances Considered—Other News of the Town

There was a regular meeting of the common council last night with Mayor Wheeler in the chair and Councilmen Terry, Halfpenny, Shannon, Rankin, Lewis, Merrick, Hardie and Crozier were present. The most important paper considered was the report of the city treasurer, which shows that the city's finances are in good condition.

DETAIL OF WORK.

PETITIONS.

From the Portland Real Estate Company asking for an extension of sixty days in which to complete the improvement of Fourth street opposite block [illegible] granted until [illegible]

From J. G. Crimer, C. P. Ballcord and others asking the council to place a light on the corner of Seventh and Stephens streets; referred to the committee on fire and water.

From Thomas R. [illegible] asking for an extension of [illegible] days for the completion of his contract for the improvement of Fourth street; granted.

From Mary A. Stone [illegible] for [illegible] against her property on [illegible] having paid the street assessment [illegible] granted.

From J. W. [illegible] and others stating that the [illegible] of [illegible] street from [illegible] to Hawthorne street is completed and asking that the same be accepted [illegible] grades established in accordance with the [illegible] surveyor; referred to surveyor and street commissioner.

From William [illegible] saying "I submit for your consideration my tax receipts on property located in [illegible] addition, and also my state and county receipts for the same property, which by comparison you will see that there is an error in the amount of property described and also in the valuation. By correcting the same you will oblige," etc.; referred to the city attorney.

From R. L. [illegible]ingham, asking for a correction of taxation, referred to city attorney.

From property holders asking that an electric light be placed on [illegible] way and Fourth; referred to fire and water committee.

The committee on streets and public property asked for further time to report on the ordinance to amend the ordinance granting the Willamette Bridge Railway Company a franchise, and also that of G. W. Shaver and others for the opening of Third street, granted.

OFFICERS' REPORTS.

From the city surveyor to whom was referred the matter of establishing grades on Twenty first and Eighteenth streets, reporting the same back and recommending that the grades be established in accordance with his report, adopted, and the recorder instructed to give notice.

From the city surveyor stating that he had made a survey and plat for the opening and extension of Fourth street, between Willamette and A streets, and found that to establish the said street will require off of the land of Samuel Hiple a strip, described as follows: Beginning in the west line of Fourth street and 125x10 feet south of the northeast corner of block 10 in Wheeler's addition to East Portland, running thence south 30½ feet, thence east 30 feet, thence north 30½ feet, thence west 30 feet to the place of beginning, containing 10.51 square feet. Recorder instructed to give notice of the filing of this report.

STREET WORK.

The city surveyor and street commissioner of the city of East Portland have each filed with the auditor and clerk of the city their acceptance of work upon various streets as follows: Work upon L street abutting block 1 [illegible] contracted to be completed by James Finney, for grading; work on Sixteenth street abutting the [illegible] lineal feet next to and south of P street contracted to be completed by M. Dancke, for grading, sidewalk and crosswalk; work on Sixteenth street, abutting the 100 lineal feet on the east side of Sixteenth street between D and E streets, contracted to be completed by Lydia Putnam, for grading, sidewalk and crosswalk; work on Sixteenth street, abutting block [illegible] lots 5 and 6, contracted to be completed by James L. Moffet, for grading and sidewalk.

Work on Sixteenth street abutting the 200 lineal feet on the west side of Sixteenth between K and L streets, and similarly between L and M streets, contracted to be completed by W. I. B. Nichols.

And work on Fourth street abutting block 91 contracted to be completed by J. R. Turnbull for grading, sidewalk and plank roadway for riding.

Warrants were ordered drawn for payment of the above claims.

ORDINANCES.

To establish grades on certain streets in Holladay's addition, read twice and referred to the committee on streets and public property.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On motion lights were ordered to be placed on E. R. T. and Hawthorne avenue and Sixteenth street in the jail yard, and in the stairway leading to the council chamber.

Rankin stated that at the last meeting a bill from the gaslight company had been referred to the committee on fire and water. They found that the council had received no notification until the 19th, which was the cause of the difference in the bill. It appeared during the discussion that the gas light company had received a [illegible] notice of the action of the council on the next day. On motion of Mr. Rankin a warrant was ordered drawn on the treasurer for the amount due after consultation with the committee on fire and water.

On motion of H[illegible], the city attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance requiring [illegible] to [illegible] to have their motors [illegible] from [illegible]

Mr. Halfpenny stated that about six [illegible] contract for the improvement of [illegible] had been let. The [illegible] but since the [illegible] had not been built. [illegible] the [illegible] to the work [illegible] the council would [illegible]

On motion of Lewis the street commissioner was [illegible] to put in the crosswalks on Fifth street.

The [illegible] reported that he had drawn the [illegible] from the treasurer and tendered it to the property owners along Hawthorne avenue and that they refused to accept the tender.

The street commissioner stated that the bridge across Asylum creek was in a very dangerous condition; referred to the committee on streets and public property.

Rankin stated that the recorder had notified Mr. Campbell of the Willamette bridge railway to put in the cross-walks on N street, but they had not as yet done the work. The city attorney stated that he had seen Mr. Campbell, and he thought that he would have the work done.

The street commissioner was instructed to go ahead and open Hawthorne avenue forthwith.

BAFFLED BURGLARS.

A most daring and impudent attempt to enter and burglarize the apartments of Mr. J. G. Schmidt, back of his gun store on Fourth street was made Sunday night about 9 o'clock. Mr. Schmidt and his family live in these apartments. When the attempt was made he was away. The lower sash of the back window, which fronts on the alley, was fastened by means of a stick on the inside. Mr. Schmidt's wife and children and mother were in the house. Without warning of any sort the window was broken, a hand was put through from the outside and an attempt was made to remove the stick and raise the window. Some of the broken glass fell on the table near where the children were playing. An alarm was immediately raised but the burglar made his escape before any one came. Evidently the burglar made a mistake as he certainly would not have attempted to enter a room where there were several people. There has been several attempts made of late to enter the buildings in that block from the alley.

THE EVILS OF GAMBLING.

Mr. Mason Long, a Reformed Knight of the Green Cloth, Addresses a Crowded House.

A large assembly was gathered at the First Baptist church last evening, to hear the lecturer from Fort Wayne, Mr. Mason Long.

The speaker of the evening was introduced by Rev. Dr. Gordon.

Mr. Long said the good people here had kindly opened the church, and he would ask that no one defile it with tobacco. He was invited to Michigan to work 100 nights with the W. C. T. U. At Grand Rapids he was reminded that those who attempted to instruct others must be clean themselves, and from that day to this he has never used the filthy weed. He then told the story of a clerk who had to serve two years in the penitentiary, a consequence of using tobacco unduly. Another young man not only got into a prison, but brought his gray haired father to the grave through vices that followed in the train of smoking.

"I have been so prejudiced that I would not listen to preaching. But a band of Christian temperance women getting signatures to the pledge. I promised that I would come next night. A little girl said 'You will won't you?' and from that day to this I have never used an oath. Profanity is the sin of the blind.

"I have won a vast amount of money but lo, it is gone. Gamblers very seldom go to their graves rich men. I never knew but two."

Then Mr. Long told the story of a poor old John Morrissey who won [illegible] thousands upon thousands of dollars [illegible] continued [illegible] who have [illegible] get [illegible] and two [illegible]

[illegible] the pledge the saloon keeper told me [illegible] made a fool of myself, but I replied [illegible] I have you [illegible] never [illegible] other drink.' A liquor dealer promised me a new hat every year I kept it. I have [illegible] for the eleventh. Finally the dealer was converted to total abstinence himself. I then gave up gambling as soon as I did liquor and was often under temptation through the company I kept.

We have some moral men praying church members who have not moral courage enough to come out and work for religion and temperance. My first speech was 'Whisky never did me any good,' and is there any man here who drinks it he can say the same thing.

While I was yet a gambler I heard a sermon which converted me, and a little girl handed me a Bible and in asking me to read it she said 'You will won't you?' I read the Second Corinthians fifth chapter, and thought the Corinthians must have been a bad set and that I myself was as bad as a Corinthian. After that I stood up and told 1500 people what I intended to do. The passage that converted me was the tenth verse of the Second Corinthians 'For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.' I then prayed for forgiveness and surrendered my heart and will to God. Since that I have done everything I could for the glory of God and the good of mankind.

I bought a team for $600 hitched them to a wagon, and went all over Ohio. A brewer offered me $1100 for my team but my religion was more than $600 deep and so my gospel team was not sold.

My pastor told me to get another horse. I asked the pastor how it was that I had lost a horse which I had refused so much money for to keep me from working for the devil.

The good minister said it might be when a big grey horse stood between him and a man that God knocked the horse out so that he could see the man.

"A gambler risked his employer's money in order to get a palace and lost his cottage home and his honor in the attempt.

I signed the pledge eleven years ago and was at that time $4,000 in debt; now I owe no man on God's earth a dollar." Mr. Long then told the sad story of a man who had been led down through gambling till he had to go to the penitentiary for three years. He was penitent when he went and promised to reform but his wife's father took the wife and children home and when the prisoner came home turned him rudely from the door. He became a tramp but was rescued by Mr. Moody, reformed and now makes a good living for his wife and children. The speaker closed with an eloquent appeal to all who love God to render out a helping hand to the work and a ring.

Dr. Gordon then announced that Mr. Long will speak again in the Baptist church to-night on the subject "Christian Duty."

TIME FOR PLAIN SPEECH.

It may not be fully realized by the people of Oregon, or by the legislature, how important it is that the commerce of the Columbia river shall be relieved, as far as possible, of the charges that burden it.

Of the present situation there are two prime consequences. The first one is that all charges are thrown upon the producer. The ship nominally pays the charge, but the producer in reality pays it. It is taken out of the price that he receives or should receive for his wheat and other produce. The second consequence is the diversion of the business from channels of commerce in Oregon to those of California and Washington territory, thereby making the industry of Oregon contribute to the building up of commercial activity and wealth outside the state, and depriving the state of the advantages it ought to derive from its own industry and commerce.

Some seem to suppose that even if the abuses remain without remedy the O. R. & N. Company, in order to get the carrying business from the interior, will be obliged to make charges as low here as at Puget sound. Now, while that company can justly be required to make all charges which it can control as low as those at Puget sound, it can not be expected to carry the other charges with which commerce is burdened, but over which it has no control. That is, if pilotage remains what it is, towage and lighterage must be done for nothing, or commerce here will not be on a basis with commerce at Puget sound. The O. R. & N. can not be expected to meet this inequality.

The time has come to have some plain talk on this subject. It seems to be supposed that the O. R. & N., with the Union Pacific behind it, will do whatever may be necessary to hold the business here, no matter how heavily it may be burdened. But in this calculation the real status of the railroads is overlooked. The connection between the O. R. & N. and the Union Pacific is founded upon a lease, which is in fact but a conventional arrangement, and has no legal validity or binding force. The O. R. & N. must earn the rental, or the Union Pacific will not long continue the connection; if commerce is driven from the Columbia river the O. R. & N. cannot long earn the rental, nor can it earn it if it is obliged to submit to heavy charges in order to hold the business here. As a consequence, unless we join in ridding commerce of the charges that oppress it the lease of the O. R. & N. will be abandoned by the Union Pacific, and no further effort will be made by the Union Pacific to maintain a through line to Oregon as against the Northern, and to support the business that centers at the Columbia river.

Nor is this all. Though under lease to the Union Pacific, the O. R. & N. is in a situation to be controlled by the Northern, and the only apparent check upon such control now is the lease to the Union, which the latter may surrender, and will surrender if the O. R. & N. shall fail, through charges upon its business, or diversion of business from its lines, to pay the rental. It is proper that the people of Oregon should know the whole facts of the situation. Just one-half the stock of the O. R. & N. is held by the Oregon & Transcontinental Company, and the Oregon & Transcontinental in its turn is now controlled in the interest of the Northern. Hence, at the next election of O. R. & N. directors, a few months hence, a Northern Pacific board will be put in control of the O. R. & N. Then the only tie that will bind the O. R. & N. to the present situation is the lease to the Union, and this the Union will abandon unless the conditions here shall be made such that business can be done without producing deficiencies in the O. R. & N. which the Union would be obliged to make up. It will be seen that the situation is actually a critical one. We must reduce the charges upon our commerce, or it will be rapidly transferred to Puget sound. The railroad situation is such as to facilitate this result, and shortly will make it inevitable, unless we act promptly.

Our people ought to know that the O. R. & N. is at this moment practically in the grasp of the Northern Pacific. Is it realized what this means? It means the transfer of the business of the Northwest, as rapidly as the Northern can effect it, to Puget sound; it means that to the utmost possible extent business is to be diverted from Oregon,—not indeed through hostility to Oregon, but from the natural desire of the Northern to build up its own system; that the Northwest is to be penetrated by roads pointing towards the Northern and Puget sound,—of which in the Hunt roads we see a beginning; that the O. R. & N. will be merely secondary, and, controlled by the Northern, will be so operated as to leave Portland, Astoria and the commercial interests of Oregon at a continual disadvantage. In the present situation there are conditions that foreshadow all this, and we of Oregon are hurrying forward the result by blindly refusing to do what we ought for removal of the exactions and burdens laid upon commerce here. We have allowed those who pluck our commerce to dictate our policy, and at this moment are allowing them to oppose amendment of our laws. We listen to those who resist necessary changes because they are the beneficiaries of the present system, forgetting that if we do not make the changes and give commerce relief, there presently may not be commerce enough for the beneficiaries of the present abuses to contend about or quarrel over.

It is just as well to look the situation squarely in the face. The one necessary and indispensable thing is to make it cheaper to ship through the Columbia river. To this end THE OREGONIAN renews its suggestion that pilotage be greatly reduced and united with tug service, or that the state maintain the pilots and pay them.

LIGHT ON THE PILOT QUESTION.

Hon. J. H. D. Gray, senator from Clatsop and chairman of the senate committee on commerce, in 1887 advocated a bill that proposed to make pilotage at the bar $5 per foot on twelve feet, and $6 per foot on each additional foot; (it is now $8 a foot for twelve feet and $10 for each additional foot;) and he submitted an elaborate argument to show that these prices were sufficient for the service and were all that commerce could justly bear; and, moreover, that all pilots should be carried on steam tugs. Mr. Gray knows as much about this subject as any one, and the argument he presented in 1887 therefore is worthy of re-examination.

He showed that the compensation he proposed, divided among six pilots, which number he deemed sufficient, would give to each man $1862 per annum and board. This, he held, "would be a just and fair compensation for men whose services, before the state of Oregon granted them license, were worth and could be obtained for from $60 to $80 a month." Mr. Gray wished "to call the attention of the senate to the great difference in the hardships and duties required of pilots twenty or thirty years ago, in comparison with the increased facilities and little delay of the present time when pilots, either from a steam tug or a sail pilot schooner, who have barely got on deck of a ship, are met by powerful steam tugs, a hawser is passed aboard the ship, the tug steams away, and in two, three or six hours—very seldom over one day—the ship is brought to anchor in port."

Again, to show that the pilots have really very little to do, Mr. Gray said: "After the steam tug has taken hold of the ship her master, in almost every instance, is the real pilot, is the man who directs the course of the tug and the ship." Further, the judgment of the master of the tug, as to whether the bar could be crossed or not, Mr. Gray said was usually followed, as the captains were all experienced men, not only as pilots but in handling steam vessels;—all of which went to show that the pilot was not relatively the most important man. The whole statement really goes to show that there is no need of other pilot than the master of the tug.

Mr. Gray showed that the expense of maintaining a steam tug was about $2000 a month, while the average expense of a pilot was $33 a month, or, including wages, $183 a month; and this, he said, "showed a service value of over ten to one in favor of the tug, while the pay was only a little over one-fourth greater." These are statements that bear upon the situation now just as strongly as they did two years ago. The pilot gets almost as much as the tug, though the tug renders, as Mr. Gray showed, nearly all the service and was at very heavy expense.

The bill that Mr. Gray was supporting provided that all steam tugs should carry pilots from Oregon. This would virtually have united the pilot service and the tug service. The same thing is proposed, substantially, in the bill suggested by the Portland Board of Trade. Mr. Gray, at the meeting in Portland on Saturday last, said, however, that he was not now in favor of requiring the pilots to be carried by the tugs, since the conditions had changed. The change consists simply in the fact that the tugs then were owned in San Francisco, whereas now the O. R. & N. Company own them. But it is difficult to see why the principle is not the same, whether the tugs are owned by one company or another.

The remarks made by Mr. Gray two years ago are, throughout, very applicable to the present situation, and cover recommendations but little different from those presented in the Portland Board of Trade bill, now before the legislature.

THE SAILOR BOARDING-HOUSE ABUSE.

In the methods by which ships that visit the Columbia river are robbed by those who entice sailors away and then charge very large sums for assistance in replacing the crews, there is an abuse at once enormous and incredible. How to check it is one of the difficult problems that confront us every time we talk about measures for reduction of charges on shipping here.

The impudence with which the crimps board ships to entice the sailors away is amazing, and the easy assurance with which it is done appears in many cases to forbid the supposition that it can be accomplished without connivance of the master. Reputable shippers here believe, however, that masters do in fact but seldom take part in the rascally business. Nevertheless the men are taken out of the ship in one way or another, and when the ship is loaded and must go she is at the mercy of the keeper of the sailor boarding-house, who manages it so that she can't get men except through him, and he compels the ship to pay his own price for furnishing them.

This cost has been run up to $87 50 for each man, and a ship is frequently compelled to pay $1200 to $1500 for the men necessary to sail her. Since the law of the United States forbids advances of more than $40 to each seaman, to be taken out of his wages, the larger part of this money is a "bonus" to the crimp, and hence becomes a charge upon the ship. A bill now before the legislature proposes to forbid, under penalties, acceptance of more than $10 as a bonus for each man; but it is not very clear that this will be an effective measure.

The men who traffic in sailors at Astoria and Portland are as vile a set of pirates as can be found in the world. Most of this work is now done at Astoria, though we believe the people of that town strongly disapprove and would gladly stop it. The ship that loads at Portland and wants seamen dods not dare to take any here, lest when she gets to Astoria the men may be taken out and the captain informed that he must take a crew from the crimp of the sailor boarding-house, upon that worthy's own terms, and that he shall not have men enough for his ship unless he takes them all from the robber and pays him his price. When the men cannot be enticed away from the ship allegations of indebtedness are falsely sworn to against them, and an officer arrests them as absconding debtors. The ship cannot await the issue of legal proceedings; her detention causes a loss of perhaps $100 a day, and she must go; so she is forced to yield to the pirates and pay them what they demand. These exactions are often greater than those for pilotage and towage combined.

The bill before the legislature, or in the hands of the committee, proposes to give justices of the peace jurisdiction over these arrests for debt, so that the cases may have speedy examination. We think the bill should go further. It should make false allegations of debt against sailors a felony, punishable by fine and imprisonment in the penitentiary, and should not allow charges of debt against any seaman for board furnished by the man who has taken the sailor to his house from the ship, or has induced him to leave the one and go to the other. Still a better way it might be to prohibit arrest of sailors as absconding debtors by boarding-house keepers, for really it is in every case an expedient of fraud. The lawful advance which the ship may make to the seaman will cover all the latter can justly owe. There is no need to be at all solicitous about collecting the claims that these robbers make upon sailors. The business of the dishonest keeper of a sailor's boarding-house should be crushed; the honest keeper would seldom need to call in the law to enforce his rights.

In this sailor boarding-house business there is an incredible abuse, and the legislature cannot deal too severely with it.

NEW TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE.

What the Montana Pacific Offers to Shippers and Passengers.

The Montana Pacific through line between Portland and St. Paul, via the O. R. & N., Union Pacific, Montana Central and St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railway, is now open for freight and passenger traffic, with as low rates and as quick time on freight as can be made by any other line between Portland and St. Paul. Passengers taking this line will pass through Butte, the greatest mining camp on the face of the earth. The gold, silver, lead and copper mines may be seen along the side of the track for a distance of nearly 100 miles, while the scenery between Butte and Helena, and in the canyon of the Missouri, cannot be surpassed anywhere in North America.

Palace sleeping and luxurious dining cars, magnificent day coaches and free sleeping cars for second-class passengers leave Butte daily, making close connection with the Union Pacific, for St. Paul. This line is laid with 75-pound steel rails, oak ties and easy grades, while the cars, both first and second class, are new and of the latest design, equipped with steel-tired wrought iron wheels, thus insuring to its patrons the greatest safety possible. Ask any agent of the O. R. & N. Co. for tickets via this line.

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

ANENT REGULATING FISHING.—Speaking of fish traps and wheels a man who is interested in the salmon business said yesterday: "There is an effort being made to do away with traps and wheels, but no one has a word to say about gill nets. There are 546 miles of these gill nets used in the Columbia river, and as there is no restriction in regard to depth, these nets scrape the bottom in many places forming a barrier utterly impassable to fish. What is needed is to have the supply of fish kept up by artificial propagation, to prevent small salmon from being caught and to protect the salmon during the close season. If these three points are carefully attended to, people can fish any way they like and there is no danger of the salmon being exterminated." This may all be true, but the cannery men have never been able to agree upon any policy in regard to regulating fishing, except that they all seemed agreed on the one point of getting all the fish they can, how they can, and leaving the future to take care of itself. The people of Astoria are more deeply interested in the salmon fishery than any other community in the state, and they should know what legislation is needed to preserve it and endeavor to see that such legislation is obtained.

IMMIGRANTS POURING IN.—Immigration is beginning to pour in from all points. Yesterday, among those who arrived on the Northern Pacific, was a Swedish family from Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Jarl and ten children. They were met at the depot by Mr. E. J. Ericson, of Powell's Valley, Mr. Jarl's brother-in-law, and were taken out home by him. Just where he will stow away such a number of visitors is difficult to imagine. They were all healthy, hearty looking, and are just the kind of emmigrants we need. The two oldest boys are stout young fellows who will help to start a clearing, and it will not be long till the others are ready to help. Emigrants are coming in over the Southern Pacific. Mr. P. H. Whitney, who is connected with that road, says they had 106 emigrants yesterday and that 100 per day on an average have been coming in for the past ten days. They are from California and Texas principally and are mostly farming people who have some means. They begin dropping off at Ashland and only about one-third of them get as far as Portland.

THE CABLE ROAD.—The directors of this enterprise held another of their most mysterious, not to say effective, sessions yesterday afternoon, which resulted in a meeting of the stockholders being called for February 18. During this time those of the stockholders and directors whose breath is not taken away by the swift methods of the controlling interest will have ample opportunities to lay plans and map out a campaign looking to more radical measures. It is supposed that the directors themselves have exhausted their powers in the way of building the road by word of mouth, and require the assistance of the stockholders. At any rate, it is proposed to increase the capital stock of the company. If more stock will carry with it an element which will lay rails and build cars, in connection with frequent executive sessions, it will receive the heartfelt "God bless you" of the public.

BACK HOME AGAIN.—Mr. X. N. Steves, who returned from a business trip to California yesterday, says that San Francisco looks a little dull in a business way at this time, and that business failures are an every day occurrence in Los Angeles and San Diego, seventy-two failures having been reported at the Board of Trade for the month of January. He says that real estate in those towns does not command more than 25 per cent. of its valuation one year ago. Oregon is regarded by the San Francisco merchants as a fine and promising field for trade. The California weather, though fine, is no better than we are having in Oregon, and he thinks, from what he has seen in his journey, that a very bright and prosperous era is dawning for Oregon.

SECOND STREET RAILWAY.—Some months since a street railway track was laid on Second street from Washington to Alder. This, it is understood, was done in order to hold the franchise granted to Mr. G. B. Markle and others, forming the Traction Street Railway Company, to build a line along Second street to Sheridan, thence to South Front and along South Front to Porter, thence to Corbett and out Corbett to the city limits or thereabouts. The franchise requires that a mile of the road be built by April 1, so yesterday work was begun at Alder street, and by night the excavation for the ties had been completed as far as Morrison. The track is being laid on the east side of Second street, leaving room to lay a second track when desired.

RUNAWAY ON THE BRIDGE.—Yesterday morning, about 10 o'clock, J. E. Wood, the contractor, had quite an exciting runaway near the eastern approach to the Morrison street bridge. In driving towards Portland on the East Side, the animal became frightened for some unaccountable cause, and made for the bridge. Where the approach crosses Water street the carriage struck a large 12x12 curb block, and it was upset throwing Mr. Wood violently upon the boards. The horse continued, dragging the vehicle after him, till he reached the middle of the bridge, where he came in contact with a farmer's wagon, breaking one of the springs and badly demolishing it generally. The horse was caught after some difficulty.

BIGGEST SPORT OF THE SEASON.—Messrs. M. O. Lownsdale and A. J. Knott returned yesterday from a trip to their private lake, and report having done the biggest shooting of the season, and as evidence they brought up with them 150 fine canvas-back ducks. It seems to have been a good time for ducks, or rather for hunters, as 120 canvas backs were sent up Mr. by Cloninger and some of his neighbors, who operated two lakes and gave the ducks the double cross, as it were, driving them fr m one lake to the other and back. If spring has really come, as is generally supposed, the ducks will soon be winging their flight to their breeding grounds in the far north.

THAT "BROTHER-IN-LAW."—The Multnomah Street Railway Company, whose conductors use the breastplate bell-punch, were somewhat interested in the dispatch from San Francisco published yesterday morning in regard to the "brother-in-law," used for beating the bell-punch. Mr. Thielsen says they have no conductor who is named "Mac" unless he is sailing under false colors, and he thinks even if this fellow were in their employ he would have but little opportunity for stealing in future, as of course every one in town has read "Mac's" letter, and all the people will be looking out for him and trying to detect the "brother-in-law."

SHE GAVE UP THE JOB.—A lady evidently of foreign extraction, applied at the money order office for an order for fifty marks, to be sent to Germany. She was handed a blank but requested the clerk to fill it out for her. When told that this was not allowable and that she must fill it out herself she asked how to do it. She was told where to write her name and where to write in fifty marks. She proceeded to fill the latter blank by making fifty words with her pen, sort of chalking out the amount for the man, and when told that this wouldn't do threw up the contract. A bystander finally filled the blank and it is now on its way across the Rhine.

THE COUNTY VAGS.—Judge Catlin seems to have thought better, or worse, of the plan to put the vagrants in the county jail to work. The balls and chains are made, but it is doubtful if they will be used. If the senate bill now under consideration at Salem, which will throw vagrants back on the city, should pass there would be nothing done. If not, some arrangement may be made. The judge stated yesterday that there is no present intention of putting them to wo k. They will be hospitably treated, as heretofore.

TEARING THEM DOWN.—A number of workmen were yesterday engaged in tearing down the old buildings standing on the northeast corner of Second and Oak streets. These buildings have long been occupied by half a dozen Chinese courtesans, and the block has been quite an eye-sore. The inmates of these houses vacated several days ago. After the buildings are all torn down and the rubbish removed, work on the new Weinhard block will be begun without any further delay.

PETITION BEING CIRCULATED.—A somewhat numerously signed petition will be presented to the council to-morrow night, asking that the Tanner creek sewer be extended from its present terminus to a point on Jefferson street in front of the city park. The petition is signed by residents of the district to be drained by the sewer who claim that it is necessary for sanitary purposes and to prevent damage to property.

MIKE'S SERIOUS TUMBLE.—Michael Mooney while in an abnormal state of sobriety yesterday, undertook to walk across the trestle near Weidler's mill, and in consequence, fell through, breaking several ribs and being bruised and shook up generally. He was taken to St. Vincent's hospital for repairs. Had Mr. Mooney been, as usual, loaded to the neck with whisky, he could have walked a rail across the trestle, and if he had tumbled off he would have received no injury. A man cannot, however, always be prepared for such emergencies, but Mooney can come as near it as any man in the city.

EXPRESS OFFICIALS EN ROUTE.—Mr. J. J. Valentine, vice-president and general manager of Wells, Fargo Company, has just passed through the city on his way to San Francisco. He was accompanied by Mr. P. B. Cornwall of the Whatcom gold mines. Mr. Valentine's visit had no business significance, being at the sound with his wife on a visit to her relatives. Division Superintendent M. G. Hall of the Northern, is on his way to Helena to meet H. H. Browning, who will return here with him.

AN IMPORTANT ENTERPRISE.—Articles of incorporation of the Pacific Coast Elevator Company were yesterday filed in the office of the clerk of the county court. The firm of F. H. Peavey & Co., of Minneapolis, are the originators and stockholders of the company, which has a paid up capital of $750,000. The site of the terminal elevator here is on the East Side, just north of the coal bunkers, where a piece of ground with a river frontage of 1300 feet and 1113 feet wide has been secured.

STOLE A RIFLE.—About 6 o'clock yesterday evening a man, leisurely strolling along Front street, was seen to take a Spencer rifle from the walk in front of the second-hand store of Jacobs Bros. on the corner of Taylor street. Louis Jacobs, one of the proprietors, caught the man by the back of the neck and retained his hold until the arrival of Officer Smith who appeared on the scene a few minutes later. At the city jail the man gave his name as John Hirle.

COMPANY I ELECTION.—Company I, O. N. G. held a regular meeting last night, Captain Tanner presiding by detail of Colonel Beebe. Sergeant E. D. Cooper was chosen second lieutenant, receiving twenty-six votes to Corporal E. Bellinger's nineteen. Five new names were proposed for membership. Cash subscriptions of $250 and promises of $500 more will be used in decorating the company's quarters, which it proposes to make the finest in the armory.

IN POOR HEALTH.—Mr. O. C. Scott, of the Gilman house, who recently went to Paraiso springs, Cal., to recuperate, is not improving in health. From a letter received by his partner, Mr. Edward Post, it is learned that he has been so sick that he traveled thirty miles one night to consult a physician. For the past three years Mr. Scott has devoted himself to business, and his present condition is the result of overwork.

STILL CELEBRATING.—Last night the Chinese denizens on Second street were again celebrating their New Year's festivities with the shooting of fire-crackers. Several thousand people thronged the street and walks about the corner of Second and Alder, where most of the pyrotechnics were displayed. For over an hour the streets resounded with the ceaseless din of exploding fire-crackers.

HOME AGAIN.—John Sommerville, esq., who went to California a short time ago with his son Frank, seeking a warmer climate, returned last Saturday, overland. He visited San Francisco, Oakland, Santa Cruz, Monterey and several other cities in the vicinity of San Francisco. He left Frank at Oakland, where he will remain for some time.

ORCHESTRAL UNION.—The second subscription concert will take place on next Tuesday evening, February 12, at Masonic hall. Mr. S. Freidenrich, late of San Francisco, will render Mendelssohn's Serenade and Allegro Giojoso for pianoforte, accompanied by the orchestra. Full programme will appear in next Sunday's OREGONIAN.

UP TO THE QUARRY.—The steamer General Wright towed a barge up to the quarry above Fisher's landing, where Mr. Perry Hinkle, who has the contract for supplying stone for the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia, is ready to begin delivering it. The government will do the towing and barging on this contract.

NEW YEAR'S CELEBRATION.—The Baptist Chinese Mission school will have a New Year's celebration at the chapel, on Fifth street, this evening. There will be the usual programme of recitations, singing, music and refreshments. The doors will be open at 7:30 and the exercises will begin at 8 o'clock.

HIGHER AND HIGHER.—The joists for the floor of the sixth story of the south division of the big hotel are being laid. From this story a magnificent view of the Cascades and the snow peaks can be obtained over the postoffice. The view from the balcony on the upper story of the hotel will be unsurpassed.

INJUNCTION DENIED.—Mayor Delashmutt has received information that the injunction suits of the Apex Mining Company against the Sierra Nevada, and of the Colonel Sellers against the Inez have both been decided in his favor. This will be gratifying news to stockholders in the Sierra Nevada and Inez.

IN THE CITY.—Mr. J. H. Smith, the well-known railroad contractor, who is now building the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company's branch across the Cœur d'Alene reservation, is in the city, and was yesterday engaging men to work on his contract.

CHANGE IN THE TIME TABLE.—On Sunday next a change in the O. R. & Co.'s time table will go into effect, under which the Short Line train will arrive here at 6:10 A. M. instead of 8 A. M., and will leave at 8 P. M. instead of 8:45 P. M.

SEEKING HEALTH.—Mr. M. F. Mulkey, the well-known lawyer, who has been sick for some time with an asthmatic affection, left yesterday for California in hopes that a change of climate may restore his health.

CORSET SALE.—A very pretty display of corsets is made in J. Selling & Co.'s show windows. They range for this occasion from 25 cents upwards. A feature is made of the celebrated watch-spring corsets.

MISS HENRIETTA G. MOORE, a distinguished lecturer of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will speak at the Tabernacle on Wednesday evening, February 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

THE WAREROOMS of the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company were crowded all day yesterday by people who were taking advantage of their closing out sale of carpets.

FOR TUESDAY.—We will sell boys' waists for 35 cents, regular 75 cent waists. They are made of percale and not calico. Kohn's, corner Second and Morrison streets.

FOR GRAY'S HARBOR.—The steamer General Miles will leave Astoria Wednesday morning, February 6, after the night boat arrives from Portland.

GO TO KOHN'S, Second and Morrison streets, and buy the first-class quality of standard shirts, for $1 each.

LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY meets at 2 P. M. to-day.

NEW SAVINGS BANK.

The Savings Bank of the Portland Trust Company of Oregon is conducted upon a safe and conservative basis. It is kept open during the usual banking hours of each business day, and also on Saturday nights from 6 to 8 o'clock. Clerks, mechanics, saleseladies and all others are invited to call and learn rates of interest and other particulars. Office, 69 Third street.

Realize the most money by selling your castoff furniture, stoves, carpets, clothing, etc., to I. Gevurtz, 151-3-5 Front street, near Yamhill.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, FEB. 5.

CLERK OR COUNSELLOR.

The composition of General Harrison's cabinet is not yet known, but the general feeling seems to be that Blaine will be secretary of state, Allison secretary of the treasury, John Wanamaker of Philadelphia postmaster general, General Alger of Michigan secretary of war, with a Pacific coast man for secretary of the interior. Warner Miller is reported as likely to be called to the cabinet.

These cabinet speculations rest of course largely upon rumor, nevertheless the general essence of intelligent opinion East and West, doubtless rests upon some positive information. General Harrison undoubtedly has given his confidence to somebody, and it would be impossible at this late date to make the composition of the president's cabinet on consensus secret before inauguration. THE OREGONIAN has not disguised its opinion that Mr Blaine's appointment to the head of Harrison's cabinet would be a political blunder, and has given its reasons for its conviction The same reasons which moved the republican party not to renominate Mr Blaine are sound reasons why he should not be called to the cabinet. The republican party, to be victorious for the future, must clear itself clean of Blaineism The anti-Blaine faction holds the balance of power in close states, and whether we like it or not the vote of the vituperated derided "mugwump" is necessary to perpetuate the republican party in power The honest republican mugwump voted for Harrison at the last election because he believed that Harrison was a man of positive honesty. He did not care whether Blaine's friends liked or disliked Harrison, he simply satisfied himself that Harrison was personally and politically a pure man. If Blaine is called to the head of Harrison's cabinet the honest republican mugwump will no longer support the administration. The dislike and distrust felt toward Blaine is twofold. The conservative classes of the people do not believe in the soundness of his head, and the "conscience" party in politics do not believe in the purity of his heart. It is not so much what Mr. Blaine is charged with, not so much what he has done or is charged with doing that hurts him, it is the company he keeps: the kind of intelligent knaves that make the air vocal with cheers for "Jim" Blaine

Travel on the Atlantic coast, and who are the able, aggressive friends of Blaine? They are always the engineers and executives of railway and other corporations that are in politics for "business" The railway rascal at the East, the timber thief at the extreme West, the mining "sharp" of the mountains, are enthusiastic for Blaine. They all seem to think that if Blaine should once get into power he would make the world for them as attractive as Jack Falstaff desired when he said to Prince Hal, Rob we thine exchequer the first thing thou doest. Shall there be a gallows standing in England when thou art king? Do not thou when thou art king hang a thief" It is this popularity of Blaine with men who are never in politics except for dividends that makes him an object of distrust to many men who do not believe the specific charges against him

So much for Blaine The nomination of Wanamaker to the cabinet would be a weak and worthless selection. Mr Wanamaker is nothing but a successful merchant of Philadelphia. His nomination to the cabinet of Harrison would be as stupid as was the nomination of A T Stewart by Grant to the treasury. The blunder of Grant was natural to an old soldier He thought of his cabinet as a kind of civic staff, a clump of clerks He reasoned that Stewart and Borie, as men of business ability, who had grown rich in trade, would make good men of business in the administration of the affairs of the nation. Grant had a deal of sense, however, and he soon corrected these first mistakes, and his subsequent cabinet appointments were as a rule represented by able and upright public men The cabinet of Hayes was composed of strong men, with the single exception of Postmaster General Key The cabinet of Garfield was like Garfield on the whole weak The cabinet of Arthur was far better The cabinet of Cleveland has been weak. With the exception of Manning who died early, Cleveland's cabinet officers have been a very cheap lot.

To place Mr Wanamaker in the cabinet would give it no strength Nothing can be urged in his favor except that he is a rich republican merchant who has spent his money freely for his party and persuaded his friends to do likewise To place him in the cabinet on this ground would be a confession of weakness for it would be saying that cabinet appointments are rewards of merit in the sense that the man who pours the most dollars into the party that is the best fellow. This would be equivalent to saying that bullion rather than brains was the test of public merit To appoint such a man to the cabinet would belittle the administration from the start, because it would look as if Harrison was paying up his real or fancied political debts by a system of rewards in shape of the patronage of public honors

The suggestion that the Pacific coast is entitled to an appointment" is absurd The Pacific coast is deeply interested in the management of the interior department which includes the land office and the Indian bureau, but the Pacific coast does not need for the efficient and upright administration of this department a Pacific coast man If the Pacific coast has a superior man for this place, well and good, but to take a weak, inferior man from this coast on the plea that the Pacific coast had a claim to be represented in the cabinet would be ridiculous The selection of Alger for secretary of war would be a weak nomination, except on the ground that Harrison is disposed to imitate Lincoln and call his competitors to his cabinet, but the competitors of Lincoln in 1860 confronted an entirely different situation Lincoln knew he had a war on his hands; he must have a united party in the start, so he fairly forced the olive branch into the hands of Chase Seward, Cameron and Bates and then with characteristic sagacity called Stanton, the representative of the war democrats to his side But to-day the situation is entirely reversed, and General Harrison has only to determine whether he will have a cabinet of mere clerks or of counsellors. If he wants mere clerks, commonplace men will do if he wants sagacious counsellors he cannot afford to place either a fractious leader like Blaine, or a mere money bag like Wanamaker, in his cabinet.

A COMMON DIFFICULTY

The effort to secure intelligent men to act as jurors in important cases becomes more and more difficult as newspaper readers multiply and public schools increase in efficiency All previous experiences of this kind seem to have been surpassed in the reopening of the so-called boodle cases in New York city a few days ago A panel of 100 was exhausted the first day without securing a single man who had not read the newspapers, or who had not formed an opinion upon this case So long as a density of ignorance, incompatible with an ordinary degree of intelligence is insisted upon as a qualification for jury service, the prospect of an intelligent verdict in a case like that of the late lamented Jacob Sharp and his coadjutors is slight, indeed

It is time for the intelligence of the age to face this fact, with something more effective than protest. A man who has read nothing about a case that has dragged its tedious and iniquitous length through the courts for weeks, fully reported each day in the newspapers of a great city is fit for the exercise of few functions outside of an asylum of idiots. It is certain that as long as verdicts are in the hands of this class of men trial by jury is little else than a farce, more or less injurious to the public according to the nature of matters that are brought before the courts for adjudication

The proposition to take a slice from Clackamas county and annex it to Multnomah is not favorably received by citizens of the former county. The Oregon City Enterprise says

The long list of names, some 1000 which was on Monday presented to the legislature as opposed to division of Clackamas county, was all secured without special effort other than that evinced by the personal prompting and active interest of the men to whom the petitions were sent.

Whether there is anything behind this effort stronger than a natural desire manifest in mankind to hold on to what they have does not fully appear When Multnomah county itself was created many years ago by a division of Washington county, a tremendous shout of opposition to the measure was heard. An editorial in THE OREGONIAN on the subject at the time was headed "The Iniquity has been Consummated," and the "Salem clique" was given such a scoring as only the pioneer journalist knows how to administer It is claimed by those asking for the present division, if such it can be called that the measure is solely for the convenience of those living on the narrow strip of land in question The people at large see, or think they see in it a political scheme that will take from the representation of Clackamas and add to that of Multnomah county Hence the protest

The Salem grange last Saturday passed resolutions against the Portland water bill on the ground that no property ought to be exempt from taxation It is not property however but the public credit that would be taxed in this and all similar cases It is said that Judge Boise is the leader of the Salem grange in its demand that the credit of the city of Portland be subjected to taxation Yet Judge Boise and the Salem grange are not so eager for taxation of all property as they pretend With their entire approval, and probably at their suggestion, the county court of Marion county recently "scaled" the assessment of that county, thus exempting from taxation by a stroke of the pen two million dollars' worth of actual property returned by the county assessor It may be doubted whether all honesty is monopolized by the granger and Judge Boise

There is one bill that should pass the legislature Doubtless there are others, but the bill to which special reference is now made is that which prohibits the sale of cigarettes to minors Of course, the matter of enforcing the law would be a serious question, but with the maternal slipper at one end of the line and the police force of the city at the other much might be done toward breaking up the insidious, all pervading and disgusting habit There are those who believe that the timely and vigorous application of the maternal slipper would render such a law unnecessary, while others think that paternal example would be a valuable auxiliary to the slipper method. Be this as it may, the evil is serious enough to justify a combination of forces against it.

There is certainly no reason why the Oregon supreme court reports should not be printed at home. The habit of paying tribute to California is strong upon Oregonians These reports have been sent to San Francisco to be printed during the entire thirty years of our statehood, and until recently no one has stopped to think that there was any other way Since public attention has been called to the matter it is fair to presume that this printing will be kept at home in the future

The "brother-in-law" has got a couple of San Francisco street car drivers into trouble with detectives The public will welcome anything that will give the "mother in law" a little long needed rest.

Strange as it may appear there is one European king whose private life is absolutely above reproach He will celebrate his third birthday at Madrid in a short time

---

Throughout Portland and East Portland there is a public opinion for union of the cities as solid as the public opinion for the Bull Run water bill

NORTHWESTERN NEWS

The Railroad Commission Are at the Old Stand.

DISTRICT COURT AT SEATTLE

Notes From Puget Sound—Fatal Result of a Row Over a Horse Trade—A Woman Candidate for Indian Agent.

SALEM, Feb. 4 —The Railroad Commission, which was supposed by some to have lost its existence by the recent action of the governor was found at its post as usual to-day, being the day of their regular monthly meeting Commissioners Slater and Waggoner and Clerk Bell were on hand, ready to take under consideration any and all questions effecting the control of railroads but nothing of interest presented itself

DISTRICT COURT AT SEATTLE

Judge Burke Confronted by a Large Docket —The Dead Justices

SEATTLE Feb 4 —The district court for the third judicial district convened at the court house this morning, Chief Justice Burke presiding This being the first term for a year, on account of the deaths of both Chief Justice Jones and Chief Justice Boyle an immense amount of business is to be disposed of. The calendar contains 475 cases of which 68 are United States criminal, 14 United States civil 121 territorial criminal and 272 territorial civil The grand and petit juries were selected bailiffs appointed citizens admitted, applicants for admission to the bar received and preliminary routine business performed

Then twenty of the 100 prisoners in the county jail were marched into court closely guarded by deputies and officers for the purpose of challenging any member of the grand jury any prisoner had objection to No exception was taken and the prisoners were returned to confinement

The first motion which the judge heard was that of action numbered 5650 on the calendar, and being the case of the territory of Washington vs. McKay, accused of assault with intent to kill This is the case resulting from the conflict of the Seattle Lake Shore & Eastern railroad with the Northern Pacific railroad over certain coal mines near Snoqualmie pass McKay was stationed to watch the mines about a year ago and while performing that duty shot one J M Guye, who is the complaining witness Defendant's attorney moved for a change of venue on the ground that as Judge Burke was counsel for the chief witness for the prosecution he was incapacitated from hearing the case The motion was granted

United States Attorney White asked the court to grant a venire for a special panel of jurors, to sit in the United States cases for the reason that there are so many United States cases to be heard A venire was called

Paddy Morton the prisoner who escaped, was afterwards captured near the track by Deputy Quilter.

IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD

At 3 this afternoon eulogies were delivered in court over the lives of the late chief justices. Judge Orange Jacobs, ex-chief justice of the territory delivered an eloquent and pathetic oration over the death of the lamented Judge Jones and Mr W R Andrews made a very fine eulogy of Judge Boyle Court then adjourned till 9 to-morrow morning

Eighty five prisoners were brought this morning from McNeil's island to be present at court Forty nine were United States prisoners and thirty-six territorial The former are mostly Chinamen captured and held for trying to enter the United States illegally They were safely lodged in a cellar provided for their accommodation, but while the territorial prisoners were being marched up the street, four made a break for liberty Three were easily recaptured, but the other escaped

State Superintendent McElroy has appointed district normal institutes as follows For the Fifth judicial district, comprising Clackamas Clatsop Columbia and Washington counties to be held at Oregon City on March 20 21 and 22, for the second judicial district, comprising Benton Coos Curry Douglas and Lane counties, at Eugene City on April 10, 11 and 12

SUPREME COURT

State of Oregon respondent, vs Patrick McGinniss appellant, appeal from Grant county judgment of the lower court affirmed opinion by Strahan, J

In the case of Kelly vs Lake, motion for leave to file a transcript was denied opinion by Thayer C J

On motion of Hon J P Wager John H Gradlebaugh of Illinois and Frederick A McDonald of Nevada, were admitted to practice in all the courts of this state upon certificates of the supreme courts of their respective states

HIS WOUNDS PROVED FATAL

Jesse Clark, the Man Stabbed in a Row Over a Horse Trade

ALBANY Or Feb 4—Jesse Clark who was recently stabbed by A T Thompson in a row over a horse trade, died this afternoon from the effects of his wounds Thompson who was at the time held under $500 bonds, for assault with a dangerous weapon was this evening re-arrested and held in $6000 on a charge of manslaughter In default of bail he went to jail The coroner's jury this evening found a verdict that deceased came to his death from a wound inflicted by A T Thompson

FROM WALLA WALLA.

A Woman Candidate for Indian Agent—Affairs at the Penitentiary Etc.

WALLA WALLA W T, Feb 4—Mrs Mary Ellen Page is being urged by friends here and at Pendleton for agent of the Umatilla Indians, she being peculiarly well qualified and the Indians having entire confidence in her

I S [illegible] of Prescott who accidentally lost his left eye last summer has become totally blind

Jame Story was cleaning a well at Dayton when by the breaking of the windlass a bucket loaded with rock fell striking him on the head His skull was badly fractured and he was otherwise badly injured and it is thought he will die

Saturday the young son of Hon T J Anders while skating broke through the ice Only the most active work by companions saved him from drowning

Reports from all sections of the valley indicate that prospects are favorable for a very large fruit crop the coming season

This morning the commissioners of Columbia county issued scrip to G W Hunt in the sum of $40 000 to aid the construction of this road through that county The road is evidently making a heading for Lewiston

Grave doubts existing regarding the guilt of Clarence Gray a young man confined in the penitentiary for burglary at Tacoma he was to-day pardoned by Governor Semple and immediately discharged

Edward Martin, a young man living at Wallula, died suddenly Saturday night, it is supposed of heart disease

At a meeting of the penitentiary commissioners it was decided to purchase another brick machine of greater capacity believing that they are able to meet all demands the coming season It is thought they will be able to use electricity as motive power Commissioner Sharpstein is now in San Francisco investigating for that feature It was also decided that convicts must work ten hours per day

It is reported that the O R & N will shortly locate a line from Farmington to Deep creek, thence to the Palouse river thence to the Clearwater and thence down to the Potlatch country

Charles Tobin, of Wallula, has mysteriously disappeared When last seen he was well supplied with funds.

This evening, an old lady named Fron Bridge, accidentally fell, breaking her left leg at the knee

FROM TACOMA

Removal of Railroad Officers—Shadows of the City.

TACOMA, Feb. 4.—The removal of Assistant Superintendent Newman Kline and Chief Clerk S. G Ramsey from Tacoma to Helena turns out to be very important to the interests of Tacoma The circular appointing S E Ainslie general superintendent and N D Root assistant general superintendent, at the same time abolished all general divisions, and the removal of the above officials to Helena, takes away all representatives of the general operating department. The chief official of this department in Tacoma will now be Superintendent Horner, who is simply traffic superintendent of the Cascades and Pacific divisions and will be under instructions from Helena and St Paul Second Vice President Prescott's functions will be simply executive and not connected with the operating department proper The above two officials will leave for Helena on Thursday morning

SHADOWS OF THE CITY

Harry Morgan was arrested to-day for selling liquor without a license, and brought before Justice Saxter His counsel interposed some twenty objections, among which was that Col J M Steele having resigned his position as councilman at the first adjourned meeting of the organization was no longer a member and therefore could not vote for revocation of Morgan's license The case was continued till 10 to-morrow Morgan meanwhile is running full swing.

A meeting of the Union Relief Association was held to-night when it was decided to give a charity ball at an early date to be decided by the committee

Seven vagrants were before Justice Saxter and were sent to the chain gang for various terms They had made a practice of sleeping in a hay and grain warehouse at the wharf and had cut open two tons of hay bales to sleep upon

THE HOUSEHOLD COMMITTEE

Dr Emma J Welty chairman of the household committee, read her report as follows

Mrs President and Ladies —At the end of our third yearly quarter we have to report a feeling of strong foundation among ourselves, and a growing confidence in the community in our ability to make and maintain a boarding house for women The management aim to give the best, keep a high standard, where women have a protected home listen to new wants and provide as well as they can for their needs turn no woman away for lack of present fund but are in no sense a reformatory or charity

Our need is more room that we may accommodate a larger number when this is accomplished we can become financially self supporting and more helpful generally At present we are crowded and cannot give satisfactory accommodations to many who wish to come to us Our sleeping rooms are too few in number and not well arranged and dining room too small Your superintendent and household committee wish to thank the ladies who visited the house the past months We welcome visits from all members of the Union, and the public who are interested in us

EMMA J WELTY,
Chairman Household Committee

At the close of her report Dr Welty said that there has been such demand for accommodations at the boarding house that both ends of the large double hall have been curtained off for sleeping apartments, and occasions have occurred when the large and well ventilated bath room had to be resorted to for sleeping accommodations The report of

THE EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE

Was accepted as read and is as follows

The educational committee in submitting their quarterly report to the Women's Union wish to say that the night school is still conducting its classes in room 1 in Multnomah The classes are not as large as we think they should be, when we consider the efforts that have been put forth, but the girls who attend are interested in their work and seem to enjoy the school.

A special effort has been made to have the Tuesday evening meetings entertaining and instructive and cards inviting the girls to attend these meetings have been printed in the English, German and Swedish languages Since October 1 at least 400 of these circulars and invitation cards relating to the night school have been mailed to addresses taken from the "New To-day" column of THE OREGONIAN, where girls have advertised for work There is a class of thirty pupils both sexes, connected with one of the Swedish churches in the city, where foreigners can learn English and still have the comfort of conversing in their own language It offers an opportunity for many who might otherwise drift to the night school

Whether Portland is too young to keep up a night school whether the educational committee do not understand the work they have in charge or whether we must be content with a very low grade with is a question that faces the committee continually Respectfully submitted

JULIA B COMSTOCK
Chairman Educational Committee.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

There was a long and interesting discussion on the work the night school is accomplishing and the feeling is that there ought to be a greater response to the efforts how made to place educational advantages before women who have their days filled with some kind of toil

The social committee made no report there was also none from the printing committee. A special committee on advertising reported through Mrs Comstock that cards had been printed and placed in the street cars advertising the boarding house

Mrs Nellie Robinson, on behalf of the visitors' committee for the house, reported that all had been found acceptable at that place, the boarders reporting themselves pleased with the management in every particular

A motion was carried that resolutions of condolence and sympathy with Miss M E Cook in her bereavement in the death of her mother be drawn up in behalf of the union and the secretary directed to send a copy of the same to Miss Cook

Motion carried to adjourn until the next regular meeting in May The next meeting was appointed for the Unitarian chapel

Father McFadden

DUBLIN, Feb 4 —Father McFadden arrested yesterday at Gweedore, at the time Police Inspector Martin was killed, was taken to Litterkenny under a strong escort to day A crowd cheered the police on his arrival. The military charged the crowd with fixed bayonets, and dispersed it.

THE BOOMING SOUND.

The Mossbacks of Olympia and Port Townsend in Danger.

Seattle and Tacoma Compared—The Territorial Representatives at the Coming Centennial —Personal and Other Matters.

SEATTLE Feb 4 —Olympia is feeling the boom of the Puget sound country, so is Port Townsend Both are in need of what Governor Shepherd said Washington city wanted when he began to transform that naturally beautiful place from a mudhole into a city of magnificent reality. He first wanted a boom for the undertakers He believed if the graveyards of the national capital were well filled with old settlers, the dream of his life in making Washington the handsomest city in the United States would be realized The "Boss" as his enemies were fond of calling him, succeeded metaphorically speaking, in burying the mossbacks, and those who rose up after the resurrection were willing to put their hands in their well filled pockets to build him a high monument on every street corner Why should not Olympia, as well as Port Townsend boom the coming summer, if the mossbacks can be buried for a while and the active blood of this splendid country be given the same chance to flow there as it is flowing in Tacoma and Seattle? The men who see a great future in the aged mossgrown capital and the old port of entry are waking up and stretching themselves for improvement Seattle and Tacoma people have invaded Olympia bought land there, and already several additions have been announced At the real head of navigation on the sound, with a railroad running into it, a good harbor for shipping a prolific country back of it and a tremendous water power for manufacturing purposes within a mile or two, there seems to be no reason why the procession of progress should not march that way At Port Townsend which is so prettily situated, the boom has already begun, and the iron rails are down for a few miles reaching southward into the Hood's canal country thence to go over toward Olympia, the Cowlitz valley, the Columbia river and Portland "It's on the wrong side of the sound" says the mossback. "It's the best port on the great inland sea of the Pacific Northwest," says the aggressive far seeing business man, "because ships can sail in and anchor without the aid of pilot or tug and the building of a railroad from Port Townsend to Olympia, thus connecting it with a transcontinental system, would not be near so expensive and troublesome a job as was the construction of the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific, and would open up a country filled with fertile valleys and valuable timber and mineral belts." It is plainly evident that while Tacoma and Seattle are growing into metropolitan proportions, other points on the Sound are quickening into new life so that by the time statehood arrives and the census-takers of 1890 get around, there will be a couple of good sized cities on the west as well as the east side of Puget sound

Olympia is crying for a daily newspaper Some of her citizens offer a bonus of $500 per month for that purpose. Port Townsend wants a better daily than the present one and a movement is on foot in both places to supply these needs In fact the whole sound country is doubling up in the newspaper line A creditable new Sunday paper called the Budget was started yesterday in Seattle by Samuel K Frazier lately of THE OREGONIAN Editor Fuller, formerly of the Ledger at Tacoma, not to be outdone starts next week in Tacoma (at old town) his Weekly Budget. Nelson Bennett is willing to back a man in a newspaper enterprise at Fairhaven on Bellingham bay, the Morning Globe of Tacoma, is attracting attention as a good news daily and a half dozen newspaper men are on their way northwestwardly to sink or swim in journalistic ventures The boom makes the advertising business good The columns of the dailies of Seattle and Tacoma look fat The real estate men are doing most of the advertising while the wholesale and retail dealers are not far behind them Men who ably support newspapers in a community are made of the right sort of stuff to build up the waste places of the country The chap who stocks a big store full of goods and who boasts that he does not advertise will sooner or later get into the papers with the sheriff's name at the bottom of his ad and he ought to Farnam and Wanamaker never had any dealings with a sheriff and never will

Captain W D Inverarity who has owned considerable real estate in Yakima has sold out most of his holdings there and put it in land in Tacoma The captain who has a name of some rarity was formerly an officer in the British army stationed for some years at Gibraltar and Malta was in the sheep business in the Argentine Republic and has drifted to a permanent anchorage on the Sound He is enthusiastic about the two cities of Seattle and Tacoma and believes that both will be large places "Seattle" said the captain "has the finest natural site for a city in the world with a fine harbor in front of it and a grand fresh water lake in its rear it cannot fail to grow and keep pace with Tacoma The latter named city is however good enough for me and I see no reason for senseless jealousy between the people of these two cities."

That there is a heap of rank lying going on in both places relative to the merits of each city goes without saying If the Tacomaite who thinks Seattle is not far ahead of the City of Destiny in a great many things would take a run down there get on the cable car and be whirled over to Lake Washington and back again in a few moments, look at another cable line nearly completed through the heart of the city lengthwise and out into the suburbs, through dense forests and down into the lakes see the new electric street railway running in another direction, view the shipping in the port, the coal bunkers, the railroads and the building operations he would come away well satisfied that Seattle was a pretty big town and console himself perhaps by saying Oh well its forty years old, it ought to be big On the other hand if the Seattle doubter about Tacoma would go to the City of Destiny and look at the wheat warehouses, the ships rail roads the bobtail horse cars, the steam motor lines, the brick blocks going up and signs of improvement along the water front which the Northern Pacific railroad owns, he would have his eyes opened a little perhaps and exclaim, "Tacoma is growing just about as fast as Seattle" That is about the size of it If the newcomer doesn't like Tacoma he can take in Seattle and vice versa He can see more of Seattle at the first glance than he can of Tacoma but after a thorough investigation of both cities he will be puzzled to know how one is going to outstrip the other particularly if all the promises he hears about both places are fulfilled Tell the truth and shame the devil and the real estate agents

"I want the navy yard located at Steilacoom" said a Tacoma real estate broker the other day "It's the best place on the Sound for a navy yard, and I will tell you why About seven years ago when I was clerking at the Halstead house Harry Low came in one night from a surveying party and said he wanted to buy a watch He felt the need of one while at his work and wanted to know if I would part with one of the two I owned I sold him the watch for seven acres of water front land at Steilacoom He gave me a deed for the property next day I've got the land yet and was offered $2,200 for it yesterday Harry Low has the watch yet That's why I think Steilacoom is the best place for a navy yard" Some of his hearers said "rats"

H O Abbott, former deputy clerk of the supreme court of Tacoma, a well known young man who spent a quarter of a century of his life in Oregon and the territory has returned to Tacoma after a trip over the country from the Sound to New York New Orleans and back by the Southern Pacific route He will commence the practice of law Mr Abbott went away a bachelor He returned a happy man All crusty old fellows living in single blessedness who read this paragraph will know what I mean.

The commission to represent Washington territory at the centennial celebration of the inauguration of George Washington as president of the United States, which celebration will take place in Wall street, New York, on the 30th of next April, where Washington was sworn in 100 years ago is composed of ex Governor Watson G Squire of Seattle, Secretary S A. Wheelwright, of the chamber of commerce of Tacoma, and I J Browne, of Spokane Falls—an excellent selection by Governor Semple. All three of the gentlemen named are going, and Secretary Wheelwright has already received a letter from New York notifying him that room had better be secured at once, as there is going to be a tremendous rush of people to witness the ceremonies Here is a delegation that should attract marked attention, coming as it will from a section of country that was never dreamed of in the days of the sage of Mount Vernon as the future state of Washington What a transformation scene in a hundred years! From thirteen states to thirty-eight, from a strip of land along the Atlantic, to a broad empire from the Alleghanies to the Pacific, stretching up to the icebergs of the Arctic ocean and almost touching the vast possessions of imperial Russia If the immortal George could but open his eyes on that occasion he would probably exclaim, in the language of a well-known comedian, "I'm getting to be a big boy now."

Allen C Mason, the leading real estate dealer of Tacoma, who has made a fortune of a quarter of a million in five years, is going to retire from active business for a year and a half and take a tour around the world He argues that he has worked hard, needs a rest and that while he is away his large holdings will enhance in value far ahead of any amounts he may scatter in enjoying himself in the monarchies of the Old World Mr Mason will leave here for Yokohama, and first wander through that beautiful land Japan which General Grant proclaimed the prettiest country on the face of the globe.

I met Judge Turner, of Spokane Falls, on his way home from the supreme court He is frequently spoken of as one of the senators when the state is admitted Both John B Allen and himself are mentioned from east of the mountains, while the Sound country will have a score of candidates, including ex-Governor Squire, Dr Minor, of Seattle and Gen John W Sprague, of Tacoma

Judge W H H Russell, formerly of St. Louis and now of New York, was in Seattle and Tacoma during the past week He has traveled over the world twice and says he never saw such majestic scenery as the Cascade and Olympic ranges He has concluded to locate on the Sound after a brief trip to the East.

The prospects of statehood is bringing scores of republican politicians into the territory to Seattle, many of whom are men of brains as well as money It looks as if there will be plenty of good timber to form a state constitution and start out on correct business principles.

Col W. J Parkinson, of Ballston Spa, New York, a noted republican stump speaker during the recent presidential contest, is taking in the Sound cities He invested in property at Tacoma a year ago, and will locate at that place

There is trouble in the Salmon River Milling and Mining Company Several suits have been brought and one or two persons have been "cinched" because the Conconully mines did not 'pan out' as expected

The Tacoma city council, it is said has elected a city assessor who does not own any real estate, and he has appointed fifteen deputies, but two of whom are property holders

No Time Should be Lost

By those troubled with constipation in seeking relief from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The disease is easily relieved in its earlier stage and as it is utterly subversive of the general health, postponement of the remedy is unwise. The same holds good of delay in cases of fever and ague, kidney complaints, nervousness, debility and rheumatism ailments to which the Bitters is particularly adapted.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb 4.—The stock market today was reactionary, and while the amount of business done shows a marked falling off from the average of the past few days, the movement except in Vanderbilts and [illegible] cialties was downward almost throughout the day. First prices were slightly higher, but soon became weak and prices slowly yielded. Except for a slight rally at noon they continued to decline, with no marked movement anywhere in the list except those in Pullman and Vanderbilts. A more pronounced upward movement occurred in the last hour, and the market closed quiet but comparatively firm at something better than the lowest figure.

Governments were dull and steady.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

[illegible] GRAIN REPORT

LONDON, Feb 4.—Weather in England snowing. Wheat cargoes afloat firm and probably dearer. Cargoes on passage and for shipment firmer. Mark Lane English and foreign wheat steadier. English and American flour steady. English country markets weak. Wheat deliveries by English farmers during the past week were 52,5[illegible]0 qrs at an average price of 29s 9d per qr.

LIVERPOOL, Feb 4.—Wheat opened quiet. Holders firm, demand improved. Options higher. No 1 California 7s 7⅞d February, March and April 7s 7½d, May and June 7s [illegible] July.

PARIS, Feb 4.—Spot wheat and flour firm. French country markets rather worse.

LONDON MONEY MARKET

LONDON, Feb 4.—There were some little flurries in money during the latter part of the week [illegible] rally advanced to 3¼ per cent, and below the close of business. This was due to the [illegible] preparatory to February disbursements [illegible] with the South Pennsylvania settlement. Otherwise the market has been easy at [illegible] per cent, with occasional exceptions at [illegible] per cent.

The financial situation abroad is again easier, and the result is that short sterling has dropped below the gold exporting point.

Commercial paper is still wanted, and strictly prime and good names find a ready market at 4 to 6 per cent, according to the date of maturity.

There is a little more hopeful tone to business, confined, however, to spot goods and current needs, for speculation at present is purely professional, regardless of the abundance of cheap private capital. Mild weather and an unexpected fall [illegible] shaded rates or rather made the owners more apprehensive, and there is a glimpse of coming activity.

Hops are selling freely to brewers, and full ranges are realized. Best Pacific 20c, do [illegible] 2[illegible].

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET

LIVERPOOL, Feb 4.—Wheat firm; holders offer sparingly.

Corn—Steady; demand fair.

It Makes You Hungry

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound and it has had a salutary effect. It invigorated the system and I feel like a new man. It improves the appetite and facilitates digestion." J. T. COPELAND, Primus, S. C.

Spring medicine means more now-a-days than it did ten years ago. The winter of 1888-89 has left the nerves all fagged out. The nerves must be strengthened, the blood purified, liver and bowels regulated. Paine's Celery Compound—the Spring medicine of to-day—does all this, as nothing else can. Prescribed by Physicians. Recommended by Druggists. Endorsed by Ministers. Guaranteed by the Manufacturers to be

The Best Spring Medicine.

"In the spring of 188[illegible] I was all run down. I would get up in the morning with so tired a feeling and was so weak that I could hardly get around. I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had taken it a week I felt very much better. I can cheerfully recommend it to all who need a building up and strengthening medicine." MRS. B. A. DOW, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

is a unique tonic and appetizer. Pleasant to the taste, quick in its action, and without any injurious effect, it gives that rugged health which makes everything taste good. It cures dyspepsia and kindred disorders. Physicians prescribe it. $1.00. Six for $5.00. Druggists.

RESCUING FROM THE RIVER.

Mr. Hugh Brady Talks to a Reporter About His Peculiar Fishing.

[illegible] Rescued From Drowning—A Corpse at Night—A Pathetic Story—Two Christmas Days—A Noble Dog.

"It has been a good many years," said Mr. Hugh Brady, in reply to the reporter's query, "since I first began to rescue living and dead people from the Willamette's hungry waters. I have taken out sixteen in all, and with some of them I am unable now to remember the names or even the circumstances of the event. Very often I did not know their names at all, being chiefly concerned about saving them if alive, or recovering their bodies if dead, and bidding good-bye to them when my work was done.

"My hooks? Yes, I have different kinds. I keep a set here at the house for use when I am sent for at night, and another down on the docks. These are for recovering bodies. Those I use for heavy articles are quite another affair, and can pull a team and loaded truck out of the river.

Night work? Well, I can work at night, but I do not relish it, I assure you. A boatswain fell over his ship's stern last winter, and they at once sent for me. I went to work at night and when, after throwing out the grapplers, I drew some object in, it rolled over and the moonlight fell on the open mouth and staring eyes of a corpse. It did not make a very cheerful companion for a man alone at night, by a riverside.

"No, I have never been able to resuscitate a person who has been in the water for any length of time. Cases are reported in England where a revivification has been effected after one has been twenty-five minutes under water, but ordinarily a much shorter time finishes them. A good many years ago, I can't remember the exact date, I took Mr. William Dellinger's boy out of the river. I could have saved him, I think, if the little boy who was there could have told me the exact place where his playmate had fallen from the dock. He pointed first at one place and then another. We had three doctors working over him for two hours, but in vain. We succeeded in getting him warm as far up as the breast by rubbing, but he had been in the water too long. I pitied the boy's mother. She was laying out the dead child of 'Big Mose,' the expressman, at the time I brought her own boy to her.

"With others I was more fortunate. A sailor owes his life, as he is living to-day, to a noble dog of mine. The British bark, of whose crew he was one, was moored down by the round house. The sailor was out skating and got on very thin ice, which broke with him, and I could not get near him. My dog towed him some sixty feet through the open water until I could help him out. He was bidding us good-by when the dog sprang for him. This was in the winter of '75-6. I saved four other men that same winter. Three sailors walked off the foot of C street one night about 1 o'clock. I was keeping a nightwatch upon First street at the time, and their cries attracted my attention. I got a life buoy to them and out they came. Through the ice of that same winter also a man went down, who, with a fellow laborer, was driving a flock of 300 sheep across the river. No, I wouldn't mention his name; he is here yet, and will remember it, I dare say. I got a boat into the water for him.

"One of the hardest tasks I had was with Murphy, who was drowned last summer in Couch lake. After locating the body it was with the greatest difficulty that it was brought ashore, as it was thoroughly wrapped about with water willow.

"Two years ago this winter I took out a 'longshoreman named Wilson, who was drowned in falling backward off the Mikado. Frank Mullen tried to save him, but in vain. The current was strong, and it was about five feet out from the B street dock. After half an hour's grappling I brought him to shore.

"I rescued the body of the telegraph operator who walked off the foot of D street last year. The operators' union sent him back to Montreal. It seldom takes longer than half an hour for me to locate and bring out a body. Some 200 people had been looking in Tanner creek for Dr. McKenzie's child a year or two ago, for two days before they sent for me. I had him out in a little over half an hour. Frank Hogan's boy, who drowned off A street while swimming, I took out. I had a long search for a boy who was drowned off the steamer dock just after the ice had broken in the spring of 1876. He was going down the river with a companion in a small rowboat. His companion was the worse for liquor and capsized the boat. The delay in his case was caused by not knowing where he went down. I subsequently found his body some 200 or 300 feet from where the boat capsized, after an all day's grappling.

"That" messenger boy opposite Ross island? No, I did not get him, though I raised the body with giant powder after four days' work. Bodies are hard to dislodge and bring to the surface in this river. No, I don't know why, I'm sure.

"Thomas Curling? Yes, that was on last Thanksgiving day, the body was well imbedded in the mud. Christmas day a year ago I was grappling for a man who fell off a steamboat near Ross island. He was never found. This Christmas I was trying to recover the truck that went off the O. & C. ferry on the East Side pontoon. I recovered it, too, and got my $100 for the job. That, by the way, is the first property recovered from that pontoon. There is a hack in there that cost $1750. Then there are the front wheels of a truck, an express wagon, a dray, and another truck. As I said at first, there are more bodies I have recovered, but I can't recall them."

A GENUINE SURPRISE.

The Barrett & Gleason Dramatic Company Turns Out To Be One of Fine Histrionic Talent.

Messrs. Barrett & Gleason's company appeared last night at the New Park in "The Queen's Evidence," and gave a smooth and without exaggeration a splendid performance. This company came almost unheralded and, unlike most of the attractions appearing here, promised less than they were capable of giving and did give. "Queen's Evidence" has been played here before, but never as well mounted and never better played than last night.

The company is a strong one. Mr. E. J. Barrett, who impersonated Gilbert Medland, has had considerable experience in the legitimate school, and it manifested itself very clearly in the freedom and breadth of his acting last night.

Mr. Sedley gives a very clever and original conception of Solomon Isaacs. Miss Isabel Gaffney, the leading lady, as Kate Medland, completely captured the audience, her affecting scene as mother and child with little Nina Mailland bringing out the handkerchiefs quite freely. Mamie Axtell was charming as Ada Sydney, and Walter Pollard did a fine bit of character work in the light part of the lockkeeper.

The piece was magnificently mounted, the rise of the curtain eliciting hearty applause. The famous lock scene in the second act was highly realistic, the effectiveness of its presentation securing a curtain call for its finale. The interior used in the third and fourth acts was richly set and generously applauded.

The company presents to-night that stirring melodrama of the old school, "East Lynne," cast to the full strength of the company, which is very high in each of its lines of work.

NO ASSIGNMENT YET MADE.

Charles Stuart Trippler Is Still in Jail—Efforts Will Be Made to Secure His Release.

As yet no action has been taken in the case of Charles Stuart Trippler, arrested for the forgery of a check for $156 66. Though his name appeared on the police court transcript yesterday afternoon, the prisoner was not brought into court, and no arraignment was made.

When asked by a reporter yesterday whether or not the press was in possession of his true name, the old man still averred that his right name had not yet been divulged. Notwithstanding this assertion, however, there is no longer any question as to his identity. Papers and other personal effects found in his possession show that he is the same man whose mysterious disappearance was chronicled in the San Francisco papers last December — Charles Stuart Trippler, retired officer of the United States Army.

Trippler is well-connected in San Francisco, where he has lived for some time. His father-in-law, Alexander S. Abel, has been general secretary of the Grand Lodge of Masons in that city for over twenty years, and he himself has taken a prominent part in its councils. Besides this, he has a most excellent military record. Grand Army men in this city, who have known him on the field and after his retirement from military life, say that his reputation has always been beyond reproach. There is a strong impression that he must have been under the influence of liquor when the forgery was committed.

It is reported that several Grand Army men, friends of the prisoner, have interested themselves in his behalf, and will try to obtain his release by refunding the money taken on the forged check. From these reports it looks as though no prosecution will be made.

PORTLAND TEMPERANCE ORGANIZATION.

Another Meeting Held Yesterday—A New Worker to Lecture at the Tabernacle.

The Portland W. C. T. U. held a meeting in their rooms yesterday at 2:30 P. M. Devotions were led by Mrs. Williamson, with Mrs. A. D. Miller, president, in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Miss Henrietta G. Moore, a distinguished lecturer from Ohio, was then introduced and made an appropriate address. A motion was then made to welcome the new members, which was carried by a unanimous vote.

The reports of officers were then received. The secretary, treasurer and superintendent reported as follows:

Miss Weeden as city missionary and press superintendent.

Mrs. Montgomery on evangelistic work, including interesting reports of jail work and county farm.

Mrs. Bygert reported on juvenile work and Mrs. Druck on flower mission and foreign work.

Mrs. McDonald reported on narcotics and various other reports were made on finances.

Several new members were received.

Mrs. Townsend then moved that the members call on Miss Moore and endeavor to make her labor at the Tabernacle a success. The meeting was closed with the song "Blest Be the Tie." Next Monday at the same time and place the monthly readings of the organization will commence.

BACK FROM CALIFORNIA.

What Mr. Towne Has to Say About His Ten Days' Trip.

Mr. B. C. Towne was seen yesterday afternoon by a reporter in reference to his recent trip to California. He said:

"I returned this morning on the 10:30 train after a ten days' most delightful vacation under the shadows of the Siskiyou and Mount Shasta. The north side of Shasta is seen to the best advantage at Montague, and the south side at Sisson's, where you are at the closest point on the railroad, being about eight miles from it. The scenery here is grand, especially inland. Knowing what I do of Oregon, and seeing what I have on the southern coast, leads me to think that the beauties of nature which we have around us on the Pacific slope compare favorably with anything abroad."

"You were also at the capital of California a short time were you not?"

"Yes. If I had time I could elaborate upon the attractions there with considerable enthusiasm. The grounds at Sacramento upon which the capitol buildings stand compose a thirty-five acre tract artistically layed out into parks, drives and shady lounging places. The residences will not compare with those in Portland. San Francisco is forging ahead as fast as usual, and of course spurns all competition. I would like to tell you a great many interesting things about our neighboring state, but her advantages are already two well known."

THE BUILDING SEASON HAS OPENED.

A Number of Permits Have Been Recently Issued—Great Activity Expected.

The building season is opening propitiously, and there is no doubt but that the number and value of buildings erected here this year will far exceed any previous year.

Within the past few days building permits have been issued as follows:

To Henry Weinhard, three-story brick building corner of Second and Oak streets, to cost $40,000.

Sisters of the Holy Names, three story brick building, Fourth and Market, to cost $40,000.

Addie B. Fisher, two-story dwelling at Twentieth and L streets, to cost $2500.

S. Ward, two-story dwelling at Twelfth and Columbia, to cost $2500.

Mordan, two-story dwelling at Salmon and Tenth streets, to cost $3000.

Mrs. Nellie Robinson, three one-story brick cottages corner Clifton and West Park street, to cost $2700 each.

G. Glass, two two-story houses on Third, near Lincoln, to cost $2225 each.

James Bailey, cottage at Clay and Fifteenth streets, to cost $900.

A. E. Johnson, to repair three-story brick at Front and Washington streets, $1000.

There are also a large number of permits for additions and repairs of various kinds.

STANDING OF THE BOYS.

Quarterly Examination at the Bishop Scott Academy—How the Students Rank.

The regular quarterly examinations were held at the Bishop Scott Academy last week, the following boys having the highest standing, ranking in the order named:

Pulaski G. Seeley, Pomeroy, W. T.; Walter A. Holt, Colfax, W. T., Harry D. Cowles, Olympia, W. T.; Orville Rankin, Sidney K. Hooper, Horace Pennoyer, Portland; Joe Heilner, Baker City, Or.; Ivan DeLashmutt, Portland; Harold B. Fiske, Salem; George H. Sampson, Portland; Edward L. Carpenter, Fort Klamath, Or. In standing, Sampson and Carpenter are a tie.

The following boys were perfect in conduct during the quarter: George Durham, Frank Dekum, Ivan DeLashmutt, Walter Honeyman, Sidney K. Hooper, John Lincoln, Portland; Walter A. Holt, Colfax, W. T.; W. Bert Mackay, Roderick L. Macleay, Portland; Hector McDonald, Summerville, Or.; Eliot Ordway, East Portland; Orville Rankin; George H. Sampson, Earl Stearns, Portland. Gustav Wikander, Fort Stevens.

PERSONAL.

B. A. Graham of the Wardner mines is at the St. Charles.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Gootstein, of Seattle, are the guests of Mr. S. Wolf.

W. G. Evans, carrying an enormous line of dry goods from New York, is at the St. Charles.

George F. Greene and Will J. Sewell, of Mount Tabor, leave this morning for their childhood home. Mr. Greene goes to visit his aged mother.

Judge W. H. Adams went down to Salem last evening, to be present in his official capacity as city attorney at the consolidation meeting there last night.

Mr. E. S. Jackson, late chief clerk of the Northern Pacific railroad freight office, has been appointed contracting freight agent of the Montana Central railroad, which has established an office in Portland and will compete for their share of the transcontinental business.

Mr. M. P. Benton, formerly traveling passenger and freight agent of the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City railroad, now passenger agent of the Montana Central, is in town, looking as well and happy as in days of yore. He leaves this afternoon for a trip to San Francisco.

JUDICIAL CIRCLES QUIET.

A Very Tranquil Day Among the Several Temples of Justice.

Johnson-Woodward Case—Unhappy Wedded People—Charged With Usury—Grand Jury—Police Court—Before Magistrates.

Morris Johnson was visited in jail yesterday by two of his Seattle friends, who cheered him with friendly conversation and a box of imported cigars. Agnes Woodward was not so fortunate, the messenger boy who brings her meals being her only visitor.

Unless new evidence arises, the secret of Cunningham's murder will very probably never be known. The story of Nina Krall, corroborated as it is by the testimony of the messenger boy, and the prior confession of Miss Woodward, positively sworn to by Wood and Fitzsimmons, if wholly true, yet falls short of being adequate evidence to enforce a conviction. There may have been words at Woodward's house about drinks ordered by Cunningham, for which he could not pay; the quarrel may have been resumed upon the street, and Cunningham asked for his watch as security. But if all this could be established beyond a doubt, in the absence of any direct testimony as to the murder itself, a jury could scarcely convict. The reasonable doubt to which a prisoner at the bar is entitled, is enhanced by the fact that Taylor street, from Fourth to the dock, is a place where a drunken man, left by his companions at from 4 to 6 o'clock on a winter morning, would have very little difficulty in finding someone to rob him of his watch and chain, either deftly or by assault. Without new evidence, it would seem that an indictment can hardly be expected.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE.

J. H. Keller was tried for assault and battery in Justice Phelan's court yesterday afternoon, and fined $10.

This is a rather peculiar case, and one that fully brings to light the brutal characteristics of some men. It seems that a few weeks ago a tailor named Goldstein made a coat and vest for Hathaway, a saloon-keeper on Fourth and D streets, and received $5 payment for the same. Mr. Goldstein refused to give up the clothes on such small deposit, and shortly afterwards went to Spokane Falls. Upon his return, Hathaway, in company with another man, called at his place of business and desired to try on the goods to see if they suited him. He was allowed to do so, and said that he would pay for them if Mr. Goldstein would bring them to his saloon. The tailor did so, when Hathaway wanted to try them on again, and appeared to go into a back room for that purpose. He returned in a short time, but without the coat and vest. Mr. Goldenstein demanded them, and received only a blow in his face for a reply.

Goldstein returned home and told his wife the circumstances, when she bundled herself up and went to the saloon and requested the money from Hathaway, who thereupon ordered her to be put out. She was standing with one hand upon the door at the time, and the bartender, J. H. Keller, in trying to execute the demand of his "boss" handled her in a rough manner. There were several trying to put her out, and by one of these she was knocked flat on the floor, where she remained in a helpless condition. Hathaway paid his paltry fine in Phelan's court last Saturday, and suit will be immediately instituted for the money due on the clothes.

YESTERDAY'S POLICE COURT.

Judge Tanner disposed of the following cases in the police court yesterday afternoon:

T. D. Russell, A. J. Delquest, Charles McLaughlin, John Courtney and William Coats, simple drunks, fined $2 each; Mike de Lany and C. Brown, same, $5 each; J. B. Gleason, Albert Nadeau and John Drinkhorn, same, $10 each; Ah Quay forfeited $10 for being disorderly and Young Chung the same amount for refusing to move on when ordered to do so by an officer; William Bell was fined $10 for creating a disturbance Sunday afternoon on C street, between First and Second.

The case against Frank Spores, by request of counsel, was continued for another day.

Fred Hendricks, charged with the larceny by bailee of $5 from M. Arfeldt, had hearing in his case countinued until this afternoon.

William Campbell and John Lally pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and were sentenced to ninety and sixty days imprisonment respectively. William Carr pleaded not guilty to the same charge and his case will be investigated this afternoon.

ALL FOR THE SAKE OF A WIFE.

Mrs. Amanda Burns swore out a complaint in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday afternoon for the arrest of Benjamin Sherman, a boot-black at the Standard theatre, charging him with having committed perjury by falsely swearing to a marriage affidavit in the office of the clerk of the county court. Mrs. Burnes alleges that Sherman obtained a license to wed Myrtle Miller, a girl only 14 years of age, by signing an affidavit in which it is stated that her age is over 18. The other party signing the affidavit, a man named Stokes has not yet been arrested.

Myrtle Miller is one of the two sisters, (Myrtle and Minnie) who were arrested several months ago on a charge of larceny and subsequently exonerated of the charge. The girls were then given in charge of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, and taken to seperate homes in the country. Nothing was heared of them, until the charge was brought against Sherman yesterday.

THE DIVORCE MILL.

Louisa Otwell began yesterday an action for a decree of divorce against Thomas P. Otwell. The parties to the suit were married in Indiana, March 22, 1870, and on the 15th of May, 1886, the defendant deserted his wife. Thomas being a non-resident, an order was issued for the publication of summons in one of those famous and highly influential journals so much in favor with divorce attorneys.

An allowance was asked for in the state circuit court yesterday of $150 for the plaintiff in the divorce suit of Anna B. Tibbitts against Henry H. Tibbitts, to enable her to prosecute the suit. The application was strongly opposed by counsel for the defendant, but the court made an order that the defendant pay $50 within ten days.

NEIGHBORS CANNOT AGREE.

In Justice Tuttle's court yesterday morning Wm. Jones, a colored man living at No. 303 Third street, swore out a complaint for the arrest of Mrs. Morgan, who occupies the rooms next door to him. Jones stated to the court that Mrs. Morgan had threatened to kill him, and also that she had accused him of stealing her wood. For these offenses he desired to get redress through the court.

Mrs. Morgan appeared in court later in the day and denied having made the threats. She said furthermore that Johnson had been giving her family considerable trouble ever since they were so unfortunate as to become next door neighbors. The case will have a hearing in Justice Tuttle's court at 10 o'clock this morning.

DISTURBING A RELIGIOUS MEETING.

Mike O'Brien, Louis Fried and Frank Badger, three boys charged with disturbing the services in the Mariner's church Sunday evening, were arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon. The pastor of the church, Rev. R. Gilpin, stated that the meeting had been disturbed so frequently during the past few months that it became necessary for him to take some action for self protection. Through the intercession of their attorney and the complainant himself, the boys were discharged with no greater punishment than a severe reprimand by the court. Under promise of future good behavior they were told to step out and not appear in court on a similar charge again.

CHARGES OF USURY.

The case of S. Simon vs. G. and Mary Kutzschan was heard before a jury yesterday in the state circuit court. The action is to recover on certain promissory notes of something like $800, bearing date some years back. The defense to the action is a charge of usurious nature as to the contracts of the notes. The jury showing no disposition to agree after being out a considerable time, Judge Shattuck adjourned court, and the verdict, if arrived at, will be sealed and opened this morning.

THE GRAND JURY.

This body met at 2 P. M. yesterday, and reported one indictment and two not true bills. Juror John Mock was excused and a substitute will be drawn this morning. The men discharged were Lockhardt and Stevens, whose release has been previously noticed, and Oliver Ward and Dan Maher, charged with attempted larceny.

DECLARATIONS OF CITIZENSHIP.

John Larson, a Swede, and Albert Syring, a subject of the emperor of Germany, took out their first citizen papers yesterday.

PERMISSION TO WED

Was yesterday granted to A. C. Lohmire and E. F. Cusick.

SHIPS, SCHOONERS AND STEAMERS.

The C. S. Hulbert Will Probably Be at Her Dock To-day—Mikado Being Overhauled—Various Notes.

The C. S. Hulbert is now in the lower river and will probably arrive here to-day. The Dixie Thompson and E. N. Cooke have been engaged in lightering her. This ship sailed from New York city August 2 and made the trip to Portland in 181 days, having started a short time before the Bement, but not arriving till afterwards. The distance, 50 deg. south in the Atlantic to 50 deg. south in the Pacific, was covered in eighteen days, while the distance from New York to the equator on the Atlantic side was made in fifty days. She crossed the equator in the Pacific at 115 deg. longitude. She escaped a heavy snowstorm in rounding Cape Horn. The Hulbert was just behind the C. S. Bement, which was in a terrific snowstorm lasting sixteen days, and which kept the crew shovelling the "fleecy" the greater part of the time. The Hulbert was built in Richmond, Maine, by Southard, a large cotton dealer. She carries a crew of thirteen men and her tonnage is 1036.

The steam launch Mikado, owned by Brown & McCabe, is being considerably improved at the Willamette Iron works, at the foot of E street. The pilot-house has been moved aft and elevated about five feet, while a deck twenty-five feet long is being built forward, which will greatly add to the storage room. She will be modeled as near as possible after the Alarm and Cyclone, and will carry passengers on the St. John's route.

Another large ship is on the way to Portland. The M. E. Watson, which has been out about 150 days arrived over the bar at 2:40 P. M. yesterday. She sailed September 8th, and Balfour, Guthrie & Co. are the consignees.

The D. S. Baker, which has been laid up in winter quarters below The Dalles since January on account of ice, will resume her old route this morning. She has been plying between The Dalles and Upper Cascades.

The P. W. W., belonging to the water company will come over from Albina to-day, at which time the inspectors will take a look at her. Her certificate expires in April. She will carry seven tons.

The report from Astoria in reference to the steam schooner Michigan having gone to sea was an error. She is now lying near Fort Stevens.

The Columbia went out last night at 12 o'clock, and the Oregon is expected in to-day at 5 P. M.

The Alliance went out over the bar at 9 A. M. yesterday.

The Æthelbert went to sea yesterday at 2:45 P. M.

PEARLINE

Is the latest and greatest improvement in the way of soap. It combines miraculous dirt-removing, time and labor-saving qualities with perfect harmlessness; the finest and coarsest articles are alike washed more easily and better than with any other soap or compound. Pearline does away with the most of the rubbing, hence it saves the most of the wear. It is the continuous rubbing on a board which wears out your clothes, rubs off the buttons and strings—not so much the wearing. It cleans paint, china, windows, glassware and carpets without taking up. Over one million families are now using Pearline. Its popularity is unparalleled.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers. 125 Manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.
